Kinney Sobs As He Admits Accidental Killing

Shipyard Future 'Not Good' Says V.M.D. Head

"The shipbuilding future here 'does not look good'," H. S. Hammill, general manager at Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., said today. Further layoffs at V.M.D. in a week, will have reduced the number of employees there to 800, compared to the wartime high of 2,600. Number of workers at Yarrow's Ltd. has dropped from a peak of 3,500 to 870 at present.

Mr. Hammill did not expect to see any increase again in the number of workers employed at V.M.D.

Norman A. Yarrow, president and managing director of Yarrow's Ltd., said he did not anticipate any immediate layoffs, foresaw no great change in the number of men employed in his shipyards.

At V.M.D. 1,700 employees Thursday heard their numbers would be decreased by 800 and 1,000. The layoff was attributed to cancellation of the contract for work on the proposed amenity ship, the Blue Funnel Line S.S. Agamemnon.

There is an immediate layoff today of workers who have been employed at the yard less than 30 days, while the remainder will receive seven days' notice, as of last Thursday.

CONTRACT CANCELED

Cancellation of the contract by Warlike Shipping Administration in Ottawa came "very unexpectedly," Mr. Hammill said. Work would continue on the three coastal vessels now under construction, he said, and expected the building program on those to keep work going until spring.

No instructions as to disposal of the Agamemnon have as yet been received, but Mr. Hammill believed it possible some work might be required.

"They might convert her back to her original shape," he said. "If so, it will be quite a job." He did not, however, anticipate that any work now required on the vessel would mean increasing the number of workers from the 800 who will be left when the present layoffs have been completed.

UNIONS CHECK LAYOFFS

Officials of the Boilermakers' and Iron Shipbuilders' Union and members of the joint shipyard council today went to V.M.D. to ascertain the facts regarding the layoffs. It was not believed anything could be done by the union in view of the cancellation of the work on the amenity ship.

"There is very little to offer here," C. A. Mudge, manager of National Employment Service of officers, said. There are a few jobs around town, but not very many.

The saturation point had been reached in unskilled men working in logging camps and mines, he said, and the demand was now for skilled men.

On termination of employment at V.M.D., the ex-shipyard workers will have to make application for unemployment benefits, and there will be nine waiting days for the benefits from the time the claim is made.

Benefits will be paid in weekly periods and in cash. Those receiving unemployment benefits must report once a week, or more often, as required, and to get the benefit each time, must secure affidavits to the effect they have

Dominion May Order Lighthouse Tenders From B.C. Shipyards

The Dominion government may award contracts shortly to B.C. shipbuilders for the construction of several lighthouse tenders to replace ships in service now and expand the service, it was learned here today.

The contracts would be awarded by the Department of Transport which operates the lighthouse supply ships now. It was reported Ss. Estevan, which has been in operation for almost 30 years, will be one of the ships replaced. The Alberni, the transport department's other tender on this coast will be retained. A former St. Lawrence waterways coal barge, the Alberni has been in operation about seven years.

Also due for replacement are two smaller tenders. It is believed that the new ships the Department of Transport requires will be larger than those in operation now.

The transport department's vessels during the war have been working on close schedules. The air force has established several weather stations on the coast which have been supplied by the Department of Transport's vessels and naval ships. It is believed that now the war is ended these new stations will be supplied by the transport department's vessels only, integrating the service for the whole coast.

not been employed during the week.

There are seven rates of deduction from the paycheck which bring seven rates of benefits. The highest rates are $2.40 a day for a man with dependents, and $2.04 for a man or woman without dependents.

Conversion of the Agamemnon had originally been ordered by the Royal Navy, who intended it for use as an entertainment ship for R.N. officers and ratings in the Pacific area. Prior to cancellation of the contract for the conversion, it had been anticipated work on the vessel would run well into the spring of next year.

In Vancouver's west coast shipyard, work is continuing on conversion of a second amenity ship and both navy and shipyard officials say there is no indication the work will halt.

Meat, Butter Rationing End In U.S., But Not In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King said in the Commons this afternoon meat rationing will continue in Canada despite the termination of rationing in the United States.

PROTEST FROM ONTARIO

GUELPH, Ont. (CP)—T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, said today that "rationing in Canada should end tomorrow." In commenting on an announcement that all rationing in the United States, except sugar, would end tonight.

"I can see no reason for continuing it," said the minister, here for a visit to the nearby Ontario Agricultural College.

ONLY SUGAR NOW IN U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—All meat rationing in the United States will end tomorrow and at the same time, all food fats will become point-free.

Agriculture Secretary Anderson made these announcements to a press conference today. Food fats freed from the ration program include butter, margarine, lard and shortening. The meat rationing termination also applies to canned fish.

Sugar is now the only food left on the United States ration list.

Since Sept. 30, about one-third of the meat supply has been ration-free. This included the lower grades of beef, veal and lamb. Only choice cuts of those meats and virtually all pork had remained on the ration list after that time.

The meats and fats rationing program was started March 29, 1943.

Eight Top Nazis in Dock at Nuernberg Trial

Principal roles in the great war crimes trial are played by the Germans in this picture, shown as they sit before the Allied judges. Left to right, front row: Reichsmarschal Hermann Goering, Rudolf Hess, Joachim von Ribbentrop, and Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel. Left to right, rear row: Admiral Karl Doenitz, Admiral Eric Raeder, Baulder von Shirach and Fritz Sauckel.

Main Case Against Nazis Rests On 10 So Far Unrevealed Documents, U.S. Says

NUERNBERG (AP)—Punishment of 20 of Hitler's top aides was demanded today by the United States on charges of spreading the "atrocious doctrine" of aggressive warfare in a plot to murder millions throughout the world.

American prosecutors told the International War Crimes Tribunal that the main case against the Nazi leaders would rest on "10 documents never before revealed."

Attempts to introduce the surprise documents brought a storm of protest, however, from German defence counsel. The session was adjourned for the day to permit study by lawyers for the accused Nazis.

Emphasizing the hopes of Allied countries that the charter of international military tribunal outlawing aggressive war would open a new era of peace, Sidney S. Alderman, assistant U.S. prosecutor, said punishment of the Nazis for planning world conflict was "the heart of the case."

It was charged that heads of the vast Krupp steel empire and the I. G. Farben Chemical Trust agreed to finance the Nazi party as an antidote to communism and later co-operated in a secret rearmament program.

SCHACHT GOES RED

Defendant Hjalmar Schacht was red-faced as he heard himself described from German documents as the financial wizard who was secretly appointed as "plenipotentiary for war economy" in 1935 and won the praise of a Reich general as "the man who made reconstruction of the German army economically possible."

An assistant to the U.S. prosecutor, Thomas Dodd, said the head of the great Krupp works, Gustav Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach—who was indicted but thus far has escaped trial because of illness—was shown by German records to have aided in raising campaign funds for Hitler in 1933 and to have declared after Hitler's ascension to power that German industry "puts itself at your disposal."

Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel had denied earlier that he participated in the Hitler cabinet meetings that planned the Nazi flood of aggression.

As the fourth day of the historic trial opened, counsel for defeated Germany's No. 1 soldier-said prosecution charts naming Keitel as a cabinet minister without portfolio were false and denied the general had ever participated in Hitler's cabinet meetings.

Dr. Otto Nelte, Keitel's lawyer, said that although a secret cabinet council with which the High Command was linked had been created by law Feb. 4, 1938, the council never was appointed and held no sessions.

DOCUMENTS ADMITTED

Lord Justice Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding, ruled the prosecution documents were admissible and that the defence could later challenge material in them. He announced there would be no session tomorrow in order to allow defence counsel more time for consideration of documents.

This is the day when, in the words of the U.S. chief prosecutor, Justice Robert H. Jackson, "I believe Krupp should be in court" but the German armaments king was not among the 20 men occupying cells in the palace of justice jail.

It was expected the charges against senile, 75-year-old Krupp would be canceled ultimately by his death. He still lay in Salzburg, reported to be suffering from softening of the brain.

Describing the use of force and propaganda to mold the youth of Germany, Maj. Frank B. Wallis, one of the U.S. prosecutors, charged "the Nazi conspirators were utterly unscrupulous" in controlling schools and youth organizations.

"The first steps in making the schools the tools of the Nazis were two decrees in May, 1934, whereby Reich Ministry of Education was replaced by the absolute authority of the Reich in all educational matters," Maj. Wallis said.

TOOK OVER YOUTH

Baldur von Schirach, one of the defendants, appointed State Youth Leader in the same month, "destroyed or took over all youth organizations . . . by force in the first instance."

Switching to the use of propaganda, Maj. Wallis quoted the Nazi documentary references to writing designed "to prepare the ground psychologically for political action and military aggression."

The prosecutor read from the diary of former Ambassador William E. Dodd the statement that Schacht had admitted to the United States envoy in September, 1934, that the Hitler party was absolutely committed to war and that the people were willing.

LATEST New Y.M.C.A. Building To Cost $400,000

Directors of the Y.M.C.A., at a luncheon meeting today, launched plans, which they hope will result in a new "Y" building in this city. The discussion revealed that remodeling of the present building was inadvisable and that a new one should be constructed.

The finance committee has been instructed to consider the necessary steps in financing the new building, which it is estimated will cost $400,000.

Must Face Trial

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Dr. Donald Watson Beach of McBride, B.C., was committed for trial when he appeared in Police Court here Thursday charged with professional negligence in connection with the death of Mrs. Rose Soucy, 23. He was released in $2,000 bail.

Mrs. Soucy and a son, Richard, two, were fatally burned when their home at McBride was destroyed by fire Oct. 4.

Struck Girl In Quarrel And Used Pillow To Stop Screams, He Tells Court

Charles Kinney, sobbing at times as he spoke, testified in Assize Court today that he had killed Phyllis Stroud by accident and had got scared when, after holding a pillow over her face, he had found her heart was no longer beating.

With his trial on a murder charge nearing conclusion, Kinney was called to the witness stand by Defence Counsel W. H. Davey, K.C. He was in the stand for an hour and a half.

He testified he had wanted to study theology to enter the ministry. Asked what his feelings were toward his mother, he replied, sobbing for the first time: "I love her very much."

On the evening of V-J Day, Kinney testified, he came home, lay down on a chesterfield and slept for a couple of hours, then started making his next day's lunch.

He heard Phyllis coming up the walk, he said, and went to meet her at the front door to give her back some trinkets she had given him about two months before to make into a necklace or bracelet.

"I went into the bedroom on the left as you go in," Kinney said, "and she followed me in." "Phyllis sat down on the chair. I sat on the bed," he said. "We got talking of the events of the night."

He said Phyllis, in a conversation about his parents, had said she missed his father more than his mother, and had called his mother "an old-fool."

"I got up and struck her with the flat of my hand. I started shaking her, and must have pushed her over the bed," he said.

To Silence Screams

Kinney said he had heard people coughing. Phyllis had been screaming. He had held a pillow over her face to silence the screams.

"I took the pillow off and she didn't move," he added. "I felt for her pulse and listened for her heart. There was no heartbeat. I got scared."

"I noticed she had wet the bed. I was afraid that would be traced to me so I took her clothes off." He said he had burned the dress and taken other articles to Beacon Hill Park. The best thing he could do with the body, he thought, was to bury it in the sawdust.

Light in the bedroom, he testified, was provided only by a low-powered bedlamp, and the blinds had been drawn.

Under cross-examination by Crown Prosecutor Robert Harvey, K.C., Kinney testified that his family and the Strouds had got on very well.

"You were attracted to Phyllis, weren't you?" Mr. Harvey asked.

"I wouldn't say that exactly," Kinney replied.

Talked About Schooldays

He said usually in talks with Phyllis they had talked about school. He agreed that they had talked about boys and girls at school and that Phyllis had mentioned that she "liked the looks" of some boys.

Kinney said he had liked Phyllis very much, but that there was another girl he had liked more.

Mr. Harvey asked Kinney why he had not given the trinkets he had mentioned to Phyllis. Kinney explained that Phyllis had sat down and started to talk. "Where did Phyllis say she had gone that evening?" asked Mr. Harvey.

"I don't remember that," Kinney said.

"There was nothing antagonistic or teasing in her description of what she had done that night, or was there?" asked Mr. Harvey.

"No, sir," Kinney answered.

Kinney said he had been shaking Phyllis and had "just pushed her" onto the bed.

"You'd hit her," Mr. Harvey said. "Even if you felt that to be justified, why did you think it necessary to get her on the bed?"

"More punishment, I guess," said Kinney.

"Why was it that you burned her dress and not the other clothing?" Mr. Harvey asked.

"The other clothing was too big to burn in the stove," Kinney said.

He testified he had not slapped Phyllis before, in previous quarrels.

"Was there anything to prevent you explaining that you had objected to a remark by Phyllis—you weren't afraid of any members of the Stroud family, were you?" inquired Mr. Harvey.

"No," said Kinney.

Afraid to Seek Help

"When you found that Phyllis didn't move after you had suffocated her, as you now know, to death, why didn't you rush to members of the family for help?" asked Mr. Harvey.

"I was afraid," Kinney replied. He said he had tried to give Phyllis artificial respiration.

"For three weeks you persisted in a policy of deception," Mr. Harvey said.

"Yes, sir," Kinney answered.

Asked to account for lipstick on a handkerchief found in his pocket, Kinney said lipstick had marked the handkerchief while he was removing articles from Phyllis' purse.

Popular at High School

Evelyn Price, Victoria High School, accompanist, testified Kinney had been a well-liked prefect at school, taking part in many extra curricular activities.

"He was at all times a perfect gentleman. His conduct toward the other boys and girls was a pattern for the others," she said.

L. B. Adams, a former employer of Kinney, said he was a clean, likeable, good-natured boy.

Thomas Matheson, 18, a fellow student, said he had been in sea cadets and a glee club with Kinney, and that his reputation in school had been flawless.

Alcolm MacDonald, another school friend said Kinney had been distinguished at school in everything he had entered.

"He was an example for anyone," he declared.

The case for the defence ended.

Dr. J. G. McKay, who examined Kinney at Oakalla Prison Farm, testified in reply to questioning by the prosecutor that Kinney's voice had changed, and that he saw no reason to believe Kinney had not developed as fast as any other boy of his age.

Both Young People Estimable, Jury Told

Both defence and prosecution completed their addresses to the jury before the mid-day adjournment.

"This is a tragic case—tragic not only because young Phyllis Stroud was killed, but because the prisoner stands on trial for his life," Defence Counsel Davey told the jury.

"These were both estimable young people,"

Mr. Davey said it fell to the jury to examine the evidence for a motive for Kinney's actions on V-J night and to decide whether the death of Phyllis Stroud was murder or manslaughter.

"I submit," he said, "that you will have no difficulty accepting every word of his testimony."

Mr. Davey submitted it was inconceivable that Kinney would have contemplated a sexual attack, knowing that the Stroud family likely would arrive home within a few minutes.

"There is not one thing in all the evidence to show that Kinney was not the clean-living young boy the witnesses have said he was," he said. He suggested that the only explanation of events on V-J night consistent with the facts discovered was the story told by Kinney.

Claims Statement Was Murder Confession

Crown Prosecutor Harvey recalled to the jury that he had said in his opening address that his task would be difficult. He expressed a desire to be entirely fair to the accused in his submissions.

"The Crown doesn't have to supply you with a motive in the case," he told the jury. "You can arrive at one from the evidence."

He quoted Kinney's statement to Detective Munro as related by the detective.

"That, gentlemen, I submit, is very clearly a confession of murder," he said.

He asked whether the jury believed there was enough provocation in Phyllis Stroud's alleged remark about Kinney's mother to induce an ordinary man to take the action Kinney took.

Bystander Slain As Bank Held Up

SOUTH PORCUPINE, Ont. (CP)—Bank customer John Dubinsky of South Porcupine, Ont., was fatally shot today and about $5,000 in cash was taken when an armed and masked man held up the Bank of Toronto branch here. South Porcupine is about 10 miles east of Timmins.

Dubinsky, 49, father of five children, died in a hospital about four hours after he had been shot by the hold-up man. He was a customer in the bank at the time and while the masked robber was busy stuffing money into a potato sack, Dubinsky tried to make for the door.

Official Committed

Appeal Court Rules In Favor Of B.C. Electric Bus Line Service

On receipt of a report today that the B.C. Court of Appeal had rejected the application of the Blue Line to halt operation of B.C. Electric buses on the Fairfield-Gonzales line, the B.C. Electric announced it will commence operation of buses immediately.

The Lieutenant-Governor signs the order-in-council approving it, W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, said this morning.

Company buses have been ready to operate on the new route since the approval was first granted by the B.C. Electric, according to N. E. Horsley, general superintendent. "We do not propose to delay this service to Fairfield and Gonzales residents a moment longer than is necessitated by the legal procedure necessary to have the order signed," he said.

The service will operate from the depot at the rear of the company's Douglas Street store over the routes previously announced and complete schedules will be advertised in the press, Mr. Horsley said.

B.C.E.R. buses will probably not roll along the Gonzales-Fairfield route before the middle of next week.

Although the B.C. Court of Appeal has approved the award of the route to the B.C. Electric Co., rejecting the appeal of the Blue Line, the action must be approved by the provincial executive council and requires the signature of Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward.

Next scheduled meeting of the executive council is Tuesday morning.

M.P.'s Urge Deportation of Japanese Who Changed Mind When Atom Bomb Fell

OTTAWA (CP)—Members of the Liberal, Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties Thursday joined in the Commons in urging the government to send Japanese in Canada back to Japan because they were non-assimilable and a source of trouble.

Solomon Low, Social Credit leader, said that in his judgment the only place the Japanese could be happy was among their own people. Canada could help them by sending them back to Japan.

Other requests for their repatriation came from Thomas Reid, Lib., New Westminster; George Cruikshank, Lib., Fraser Valley; Howard Green, P.C., Vancouver South, and Patrick Ashby, S.C., Edmonton East.

Fred Rose, Lab. Prog., Montreal-Cartier, said he could not see why the Japanese should be treated any differently from the Germans who had been active in Canada on behalf of Germany as the Japanese had been for Japan.

W. H. Herridge, People's C.C.F., Kootenay West, called for the deportation of proven disloyal Japanese. He suggested the setting up of a commission to review all declarations of Japanese who had signed statements saying they wanted to be repatriated.

Earlier, Mr. Green had told the Commons that Canada's defence position on the Pacific coast was "hopeless" if the Japanese had struck shortly after Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941.

Supporting a suggestion of Thomas Reid that the government repatriate Japanese in Canada to Japan, Mr. Green said that at the time of Pearl Harbor Canada had on the west coast fewer planes than a Japanese aircraft carrier could have carried.

STRATEGIC SPOTS
At that time the Japanese on the west coast were in the most strategic spots and from their fishing excursions they knew the Pacific coast better than Canadians. Disclosure was made in Washington recently that the Japanese agents in Canada and the United States were told to report ships and troop movements and other military information a year before Pearl Harbor.

Mr. Green criticized the C.C.F. opposition to the government's Japanese policy. Under the policy, disloyal Japanese and those who wish to do so will be returned to Japan as soon as possible. Those remaining in Canada will not be allowed to congregate in British Columbia as they did in the past.

The views of the C.C.F. did not represent those of the people of British Columbia. The B.C. government had passed numerous acts to have the Japanese excluded from the province, but each time the acts were declared invalid by the federal government.

The Japanese problem had, there has been an increase in crime were asked: "What do you think is the cause of this?" The answers covered a wide field, but by far the greatest common denominator was the war, rather than any deep-seated deterioration of our social life. In other words, comparatively few Canadian citizens believe that today's situation is part of any long-term trend, which would have continued with or without a war. War conditions mentioned above involving social unrest, loosening of moral standards, disregard for human life, neglect of children.

Crime Is Growing In Canada—Many Reasons for Its Cause

By Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

TORONTO—Although some observers have claimed that talk of a crime wave in Canada is exaggerated, there is no doubt in the mind of citizens but that crime is on the increase—and big city dwellers are far more conscious of it than smaller rural places.

In probing the attitude of the public towards crime, the Institute first asked: "Do you think there is more crime in Canada today than there was before the war?"—Yes, more 53 per cent; no, no more 29 per cent; undecided 18 per cent.

In cities of over 100,000 population, no less than six in every 10 persons interviewed said they thought there was more crime today than before the war. This compares with little more than four in 10 in the rural areas who felt the same way. Because of this fact, the prairie provinces show much less consciousness of any increase in crime than do more densely populated provinces like Ontario.

COVERS WIDE FIELD
The majority who believed likely to be easy and quick enough, for we shall fly in one of the great new clippers which wing their way over in 15 hours or so. That will be far different from my first crossing in 1916.

I went from New York to Liverpool on the steamer St. Louis, a little ship of less than 6,000 tons which would have made a dandy lifeboat for our present-day 85,000-ton Queen Elizabeth. My fare plus $5 tax was $100.

The St. Louis was built some five years before Britain's Queen Victoria died.

Finally she staggered into fog-shrouded Liverpool and I spent my first night in a high-ceilinged hotel room in the biggest bed, clothed with the coldest sheets I ever had encountered. In the bleak morning I noticed a fireplace, and rang a bell which summoned a chambermaid. I asked for a fire and received a stare of blank amazement.

The maid started a smudge with soft coal which quickly filled the room with dense smoke. That fireplace hadn't been used for years.

That was 30 years ago. You and I will be whisked across the ocean on a magic carpet, and at the outset we shall be comfortable enough. But I warn you that during our later travels we shall have some tough times.

Unrra Speaker

George S. Mooney, chief executive officer of the administrative council, European region of Unrra, will address a Canadian Club luncheon next Wednesday at the Empress Hotel. The meeting will be open to the public. George T. Warren, Chamber of Commerce secretary, now in eastern Canada, wrote Mayor Percy George telling of hearing Mr. Mooney in Ottawa. "He is one of the most interesting and informative speakers I have heard," Mr. Warren says. Victoria women will be able to hear Mr. Mooney at the Women's Canadian Club Wednesday afternoon. The title of Mr. Mooney's address will be "First Hand Account of Actual Conditions Now Prevailing in Europe." He is traveling across Canada under the sponsorship of the Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

British Use Tanks In Soerabaja Drive; Resistance Weakens

BATAVIA, Java (AP)—Employing Sherman tanks for the first time in their Soerabaja offensive, British Indian troops pushed 2,000 yards southward in that naval base today and by nightfall held two-thirds of the city.

At the end of a day of swift advances yet, British troops were fighting for the principal hostilities of the city. Indonesian resistance melted before the firepower of the tanks and the British forces suffered no casualties. Indonesian casualties were about 40.

The British command, sending a battalion of Gurkhas, 30 miles south from Semarang, today lifted the siege of Ambarawa, where 10,000 Dutch civilians earlier had been reported under attack by Indonesian extremists.

The Dutch news agency Aneta said 16 persons, mostly women, were killed Thursday night in Ambarawa when Indonesian extremists attacked the internment camp where the civilians were housed. Aneta said the camp had been surrounded and under attack since Tuesday.

In Semarang itself, Japanese troops were being used by the British command to drive the Indonesians from suburban areas on the eastern side of the port city.

10,000 DUTCH HELD

All-road blocks in Ambarawa, a central Java city, have been removed, a British communique said, adding that the situation there was reported to be much quieter. The 10,000 Dutch men, women and children were reported to be in the hands of R.A.P.W.I., the agency which cares for repatriated Allied prisoners of war and internees.

The communique did not state whether the relieving force had reached the internees, but it did say more troops were en route from Semarang, and that another company of Gurkhas was clearing the roads between the two cities.

The Gurkhas who reached Ambarawa punched their way through heavy resistance put up by the Indonesians, and at least 150 of the latter are reported killed. The British authorities reported 10 casualties.

Robberies, looting and kidnapping were reported in Bandoeng, where the British command charged that the Indonesians were attacking R.A.P.W.I. personnel, a majority of whom were Dutch.

An R.A.P.W.I. supply train of 20 cars, escorted by Gurkhas was reported attacked at Tjikambeck, and only one car arrived at Bandoeng.

In Palembang, Sumatra, the British communique said Indonesian youths still were "molesting the local population." Resistance continued to decrease in Soerabaja, the big naval base 175 miles east of Semarang, the British announcement reported.

Victoria College Assembly Tonight

Families of students, friends, and the general public have been invited to the annual assembly of Victoria College in the auditorium of Victoria High School, tonight at 8, for the presentation of awards to students.

Col. F. T. Fairry, newly-appointed deputy minister of education, will give the address and Dr. John M. Ewing, principal of Victoria College, will be chairman.

Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the Elliott Memorial Scholarship by Prof. J. A. Cunningham to Ella K. Allan, Miss Allan, who in her second year at the College was adjudged by the staff, the most outstanding student, is now attending the University of British Columbia.

There will be 15 major presentations tonight.

Mrs. Ernie Pyle Dies

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Mrs. Ernie Pyle, widow of the noted war correspondent who was killed in the Pacific, often referred to as "that girl" in his column, died here today.

Mrs. Pyle, 44, in ill-health since Pyle was killed by a Jap sniper in Ie Shima April 18, died of complications arising from an attack of influenza.

She had not been away from here since July 3 when she flew to Washington to receive the Army and Navy Medal of Merit awarded posthumously to her husband.

She was married to Pyle in Washington July 7, 1925, where she had been employed in civil service. Ernie was then city editor of the Washington News. They had no children.

Wheat Stocks Down In North America

OTTAWA (CP)—Stocks of Canadian wheat in store or in transit in North America at midnight Nov. 15 totaled 217,088,621 bushels, including 194,334,661 in Canadian positions and 22,753,960 bushels in United States positions, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today. On the corresponding date last year, stocks totaled 359,974,457.

Deliveries of wheat from farms in the prairie provinces during the week ended Nov. 15 amounted to 5,271,905 bushels compared with 10,510,680 in the preceding week. From the commencement of the present crop year to Nov. 15, marketings of wheat were recorded at 146,262,547 bushels compared with 168,851,577 in the same period of the crop year 1944-45.

Not Much in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government could spend $1,000,000 or $10,000,000 beautifying the city of Ottawa and still "all you would have are the Parliament Buildings, Karsh (internationally-known photographer) and some bad restaurants," George Cruikshank, Lib., Fraser Valley, said Thursday night in the Commons. He made the quip during study of labor department estimates.

C.C.L. Unionists To Give Day's Pay

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor through its executive council proclaimed Friday, Nov. 30, as "Ford Strike Day" on which its 350,000 union members across Canada were urged to contribute "one day's earnings" to the Ford Motor Company strikers' fund.

The announcement was made in a statement following a closed meeting of 20 council members here. Called to hear a report of its national Ford strike committee, the meeting charged the company with "bad faith" in its dealings with the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) in the union security dispute.

U.S. President Makes $3,000 a Year Net

NEW YORK (AP)—The $75,000-a-year salary the government pays the President of the United States nets him but $3,000, and Harry S. Truman faces the prospect of leaving the White House one day with a heavy personal debt, says Jonathan Daniels, former presidential press secretary, in an article in the current Collier's magazine.

The President has to pay $46,000 in federal taxes, $1,000 in state taxes, and $25,000 for White House expenses over and above what is met by the government, Mr. Daniels says, leaving $3,000 net.

Inquiry Report Says 12 Ballots For Gardiner Altered

OTTAWA (CP)—Ballots cast for Agriculture Minister Gardiner in Melville constituency in the June 11 general election were tampered with in an attempt to defeat Mr. Gardiner, it was disclosed this afternoon in the report of Chief Justice J. Brown of Saskatchewan who inquired into alleged irregularities in the voting.

Chief Justice Brown said in his report, tabled in the Commons by State Secretary Martin, he had found that 12 ballots originally marked for Mr. Gardiner were removed from the envelope containing Mr. Gardiner's ballots and a cross marked on them opposite the name of H. J. Benson, the C.C.F. candidate, and then lightly erased—all in an attempt to invalidate the ballots and bring about Mr. Gardiner's defeat.

(C.C.F. speakers and others had charged that 12 of Mr. Benson's ballots had been marked for Mr. Gardiner and the marks for Mr. Benson erased.)

Chief Justice Brown said the tampering had not been done by anyone who had taken part in the poll concerned and that there was, in fact, "convincing evidence of their innocence." The ballots had been cast at Poll 50, a rural poll held in Robert school-house 20 miles west of Melville, Sask., where Mr. Gardiner had a majority of 44 votes on an official recount.

Japs Quit Kelowna

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Seventy-five Japanese, all of whom signified their desire to remain in Canada, have left the Kelowna area in accordance with the request of civic officials that they be out of this district by Nov. 15. The group consisted of 47 men and 28 women.

Another 102 Japanese, who came here from the Pacific coast after the attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, indicated their desire to return to Japan, and under agreement with the British Columbia Security Commission will remain here until transportation can be arranged, provided it is not longer than one year.

Several other Japanese have recently voluntarily indicated that they now desire to be repatriated, although when the official check was made they said they preferred to remain in Canada.

Flying Flivver

Just unveiled in San Diego, Calif., is the "roadplane," above, which combines the advantages of the airplane and automobile, according to its creator, Norman V. Davidson, Conair engineer. Simply drive it to the airport, attach 36-foot wings, start the 75-horsepower alcohol-powered pusher-type engine and head for the clouds, says the inventor. It may be placed on the market within a year.

$1,365,000,000 Appropriation As Commons Speeds Up Session

OTTAWA (CP)—Indications members of the Commons were putting a damper on speeches to push their business along accumulated Thursday night as the House approved the $1,365,000,000 war demobilization appropriation resolution which has been standing on the order paper since Sept. 11.

Passage of the resolution paved the way for introduction of a bill to appropriate that sum of money, less $460,000,000 voted in an interim supply bill to enable the government to defray war expenditures during the present fiscal year.

Labor Department outlays were under scrutiny in the last stage of the long debate on the resolution and led to an exchange on the question of Japanese in Canada.

This was halted when Veteran's Minister Mackenzie, leading the House, said that if the session was to end before Christmas it was essential the resolution pass. He left it to the judgment of the House, but said it was necessary to keep a schedule about which he did not elaborate, and the discussion ended.

The Japanese debate was carried on almost entirely between members for British Columbia, with Liberal and Conservative speakers insisting the Japanese be returned to Japan or at least be kept out of British Columbia.

During the evening sitting the Commons gave first reading to a bill to merge the Department of Munitions and Supply with the Reconstruction Department.

Reconstruction Minister Howe said the Munitions Department now was completing its business.

It was possible the Reconstruction Department would award contracts for peaceful purposes just as the old department had awarded contracts for war purposes.

J. A. Ross, P.C., Souris, Man., said the reconstruction job would be a "tremendous job." Its importance was emphasized in the fact there already was unemployment in many Canadian cities.

It was an "idle" thought to think one department could dismantle the war plants and still give attention to reconstruction, he said. The Reconstruction Department should be given to a younger man. The government should reconsider the bill.

Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver East, said he agreed there was an urgent need for a separate Department of Reconstruction. At the same time, said Mr. MacInnis, he was not sure the amount of work involved in handling the munitions business and the reconstruction aspects would warrant a new minister.

Vancouver Boy, 12, Guilty of Murder, Held Indefinitely

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 12-year-old Vancouver junior high school boy has been committed to the Boys' Industrial School at Port Coquitlam, B.C., for an indefinite period following his conviction on a charge of murdering four-year-old Dianne Blunt here last Sept. 11.

The sentence was handed down by Juvenile Court Judge H. S. Wood Thursday night, bringing to a close a lengthy investigation into the case.

The youth is believed to be the youngest person ever convicted of murder in Canada.

Judge Wood said that while he was satisfied the boy is an epileptic, "no case of insanity was made out within the meaning of the law."

Under those circumstances, said Judge Wood, "there is only one thing I can do—commit him to the Boys' Industrial School."

"It is only proper that I should direct that the facts of this case be brought to the attention of the Lieutenant-Governor who has all powers to see that he is placed under proper observation and proper treatment."

Dianne disappeared last Sept. 11. She was last seen playing in a sawdust pile at the rear of her east-end home.

Ernest J. Blunt, her 29-year-old ex-serviceman father, and his employer, Edwin F. Arnett, organized the largest manhunt in this city's history, which culminated Sept. 16 when an estimated 7,000 citizens joined in combing virtually the whole of the Vancouver area.

At dusk the next day the boy laid searchers to the grave in the garden. The girl's face and head had been beaten in and a sharp instrument had been plunged into her left breast.

The boy was taken into custody within an hour of the discovery and had been confined to the Juvenile Detention Home since.

No defence witnesses were called when the trial, adjourned since Nov. 13, reopened yesterday.

Judge Wood told defence counsel Angelo Branca that he did not think any purpose would be served by the defence dealing with the evidence before court aside from that pertaining to the boy's mental condition. He called evidence of psychiatrists who examined the boy and noted that Dr. George A. Davidson of Vancouver had testified the lad suffered from psycho-motor epilepsy, "An epileptic equivalent, not a seizure" and that "he could have a recurring homicidal tendency."

When the court adjourned, the boy, clad in a torn fawn windbreaker, black denim trousers and running shoes, got up and shuffled out of the courtroom with his hands in his pockets.

With the exception of court officials and newspaper reporters, the boy's father was the only spectator in the court.

Warns Japan May Revive Militarism

LONDON (CP)—Canada's position in the event that Japan someday regained sufficient strength to attack the United States was raised in the Commons foreign affairs debate today by Ft. Lt. William Teeling, Conservative member for Brighton, who said such an invasion would come through Canada and Alaska.

"Canada would become the Belgium of the Pacific and we would inevitably have to go to her aid," he said.

The danger which might come from Japan appeared forgotten, he added, but the country would try to sow seeds of discord and in 10 or 15 years might try to bring Russia in on her side.

M.M., D.S.M. Winners To Get Cash Awards

OTTAWA (CP)—Servicemen who have won either the Military Medal or the Distinguished Service Medal in the Second Great War will receive a cash award of $100 on discharge, transfer to the reserve or appointment to commissioned rank, Veterans' Minister Mackenzie announced Thursday night.

These cash awards will be paid by Canada in line with the practice followed in connection with the Distinguished Conduct Medal, the Conspicuous Gallantry Medal and the Distinguished Flying Medal. Victoria Cross winners—13 in the Second Great War—receive $50 yearly, but there is provision for payment up to about $350 yearly to officers in cases of need due to age or infirmity.

Mr. Mackenzie said the latest figures showed 1,293 servicemen were eligible for the latest cash payments—1,187 were winners of the M.M. and 106 were winners of the D.S.M.

The M.M. is an army award, but the D.S.M., while originally established for navy personnel, now is awarded to members of the army and of the air force.

With the exception of the Victoria Cross, the only persons eligible for cash awards in connection with gallantry medals are those below commissioned rank.

Most Canadians On Loan to Royal Navy Being Sent Home

OTTAWA (CP)—Almost 6,000 officers and ratings of the Royal Canadian Navy served on loan ships and establishments of the Royal Navy during the war, naval headquarters disclosed today and said nearly all now have been recalled and are either back in Canada or on their way.

In the first official compilation of Canadians serving with the Royal Navy, headquarters said 1,634 officers and 4,149 ratings had gone to Britain either to receive specialized training afforded by Royal Navy facilities or to serve in actual combat areas aboard Royal Navy ships. And for the first time it told also of mutual assistance given in return by the Royal Navy to the young Canadian Navy.

ADVICE TO RUSSIA

MILLIONS OF FRIENDS OF RUSSIA all over the world, and still more millions ready to extend the hand of mutual trust, are genuinely wishing that the people in control at Moscow would put their cards on the table for uppermost. It is not that these admirers of the Soviet Union's magnificent contribution to the triumph over Hitlerism and Fascism doubt the ardent desire of the Russians to play an equally effective part in promoting an enduring peace. But the peoples of the rest of the United Nations would like to see some convincing manifestation from Generalissimo Stalin and Foreign Commissar Molotov, for example, of their intention to "drop those barriers of censorship"—an act of statesmanship which, "in one gust," would blow away those "black fogs of suspicion" of which Mr. Eden spoke in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

The former Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in the late Churchill ministry took advantage of the debate which Mr. Attlee had opened to unburden himself on certain aspects of the Soviet Union's dealings with the outside world. Noting that the Russians, while "not as convinced as some people that the Nazi spirit is entirely dead," had "gone very far in making arrangements with their neighbors"—an indication that they were concerned over "a possible resurgence of German plans for domination of Europe"—Mr. Eden then added, amid cheers, this appeal to the men in Moscow whom he knows so well:

"I would beg our Russian friends to believe that they could make no greater contribution to real understanding between our countries than to allow foreign correspondents in their territory or in territory under their control, the same full freedom as is allowed Russian correspondents here. We have got to know each other better, and that involves freedom to speak and comment across frontiers."

Foreign correspondents in Moscow are doing their best to impress upon the authorities there that the suspicion which they repeatedly charge western peoples of harboring toward Soviet diplomacy could easily be removed by the free interchange of information. But progress toward this end is palpably slow. It does not seem to dawn upon the Russian commissars that their insistence on press censorship is meat and drink for those elements in the English-speaking and other lands who thrive on controversy that in any way appears to justify their antipathy to the Muscovite government and all its works.

True enough, these discordant voices in some Allied countries are not so strident as they used to be; the sheer force of events has lowered the key considerably. They nevertheless bespeak an audience; and it is this chorus which, in turn, is seized upon by Moscow as new reason for Soviet reticence in releasing information to which Russia's real friends are entitled, and which they would welcome to further the cause of understanding for which Mr. Eden and millions of others obviously are so solicitous. None would be foolish enough to suggest that the men in control at Moscow imagine they can get along in this day and age without the good will and confidence of the rest of the world.

ST. NICHOLAS AND THE ATOM

IT HAS REMAINED FOR MAJOR-GENERAL Brock Chisholm, the eminent Canadian psychiatrist, to rise to the full extent of his rank and banish Santa Claus from the face of the earth. But we are rather inclined to think the gallant soldier-medico does not believe the good saint and everything for which he stands is really responsible for much of the mess in which mankind at present finds itself.

General Chisholm, of course, does not err when he suggests that the world has actually become a dangerous place in which to live. Apparently the unseen presence of both Saint Nicholas and the atom bomb is almost too much for this planet to bear. And since the bomb cannot very well be dismissed, now that it is here, the general seems to have given Santa the gate. Our only hope for the future, he says, lies in teaching children to think for themselves and reach their own conclusions. His argument further implies that to accomplish this their upbringing must be on a strict basis of reality purged of all escapism. In other words, on this assumption, a child who is taught to believe in Santa Claus has had his or her ability to think permanently injured. The child "will become the kind of man or woman who develops a sore back when there is a tough job to do and refuses to think realistically when war threatens."

All this, of course, may be so. But we are of the opinion that there would be a lot more shirking of tough jobs if fantasy were to be liquidated. For the atomic bomb began as fantasy. So did the airplane and the automobile and the other coldly realistic, scientific products of man's ingenuity. They are essentially products of the same sort of imagination that created Santa Claus. Without imagination and fantasy, or even escapism, the human animal probably would be still living in a tree or cave. And if mankind is going to escape winding up in trees and caves again, as a consequence of its own destructive ingenuity, we rather think that those same qualities will have to come to the rescue. It is not imagination that has got mankind into most of its past and present troubles. It is rather that man has yielded instinctively to the emotions which he shares with the lower animals—hunger, fear, greed and such. He has made his imagination the servant of those other emotions too often, and has reaped some horrible consequences.

All of man's best works, his books and buildings, music and machines, had to be dreamed before they could be done. And it does not seem likely that the world would be any better off if it followed General Chisholm's advice and put a tight check on the unique human gift of imagination. The general would call these conclusions fuzzy-minded escapism, the product of several years' unquestioning and delighted belief in the material existence of Saint Nicholas. But we still think it might be better—if the choice must be made—to solve the atomic bomb in terms of Santa Claus rather than the other way around.

WHAT ABOUT WATER?

AT THIS WRITING, DETAILS OF DISCUSSIONS between the City Council and Mr. F. C. Stewart, consulting engineer who has been studying Victoria's waterworks system, are unknown. But it is apparent that revisions in water policy are due even beyond the point mentioned this week by Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, in respect of services extended to consumers beyond municipal limits. The issue raised by Dr. Carrothers, he it noted, relates to financing practices followed by the city which are contrary to "generally accepted standards of public utilities companies." His supporting statement also recalled existing legislation which gives Victoria a virtual monopoly on water sources within a 20-mile radius of the city. And he emphasized the responsibility which that entailed.

During the war years citizens accented with little more than conventional grumbling the summertime restrictions on the use of water. There was ready appreciation of the fact that major improvements in mains and distribution systems could not then be undertaken. Now, however, the ordinary user will want to know what the city is going to do to correct the inadequacies.

It is, moreover, a matter of vital concern to the surrounding districts, particularly Saanich. Certain expert opinion to the contrary notwithstanding, it may be of advantage to the community in general for Victoria to look again into the matter of extending responsibility for the administration of its service. If any major improvement is contemplated, and it must be if for no other reason than the obsolescence of the existing system and its present state of disrepair, the city should not be expected to shoulder the whole load of its financing. It is one thing to provide an adequate service for Victoria users only and quite another to make provision for the whole area. It should be obvious that consumers in districts outside the city will have to share costs for development. Consequently, it will be desirable for the elected representatives of those who will have to contribute to have some say in the matter.

Apart from the urgency of supplying the water where it is needed, there is an important principle involved. Here is a case of a public utility publicly operated as a monopoly. Those in charge cannot permit a substandard service.

LEADERSHIP

AS VICTORIA PREPARES TO WELCOME home its own regiment, the Canadian Scottish, citizens will note with interest the retirement from the army of the man who led the 1st Battalion into action and whose pride in the unit exceeds even that of those closely identified through kin in the outfit. After a job well done, Brigadier Fred N. Cabellu, D.S.O. and Bar, E.D., has returned to civilian life and the resumption of duties in the firm which bears his name. His interests, however, will remain with the regiment in the maintenance of those traditions he played so important a part. And that esteem will be reflected in the respect and good will of those who served under him.

Back in the '20's when the "Scottish" were emerging as an important element in Victoria's athletic affairs, Fred Cabellu was a member of the militia unit. As a lieutenant he was an influential factor in creating a fine rugby team for the club. At the outbreak of war he held the rank of major and proved his capacities through advancement to the post of command.

There is little necessity to recount his personal history during the war. His men are familiar with that. But it is of interest to recall the citation accompanying the Bar to his D.S.O. It stated he had "earned the absolute confidence of all ranks in his brigade" and had displayed "outstanding leadership, good judgment, personal courage and exceptional resourcefulness." The words take on significance, not so much from the fact that they described the reason for his second award, but because they virtually paraphrased another "citation" approximately two decades earlier.

On that occasion Fred Cabellu was a youth standing on the steps of University School, receiving the Ker Cup, emblematic of character, leadership and general ability as displayed in the classroom, on the playing field and in the early forms of community life represented by the school. It is interesting to look back to the beginnings of careers such as his.

Walter Lippmann

THE INNER WORKING

IF PRESIDENT TRUMAN makes how great is the danger into which he is being drawn, he shows no sign of knowing which way to turn in order to prevent it. The ship of state is adrift upon ever more perilous waters, and, being the captain he will not avert a disaster by reiterating his good intentions or by complaining that the sea is rough, the storms are violent, the rocks are many and treacherous. The fact of the matter is that there is no navigator, there is no helmsman, and the captain is not setting the course.

For the trouble is at the White House in Washington, and only Mr. Truman can cure it. Whatever the United States can do about the Soviet Union, the continent of Europe, the conflict in China, the disorders of southern Asia, it can do only if the government in Washington knows how to use the influence and power of the United States. Mr. Truman is not using the immense influence and power which was entrusted to him when he became President of the United States. He is dissipating and squandering that influence and is allowing that power to disintegrate.

AS THE PRESIDENT is now conducting his administration, there is no prospect whatever of his becoming again, as he was four months ago, invested as few men in history have ever been, with the opportunity to shape events because he was the leader of a mighty and victorious people wanting above all things a decent and lasting peace. There is no prospect, as the Truman administration is organized and conducted today, of its recovering the control of the situation. Only a radical change in the inner working of the administration can now prevent the situation which is not under control from becoming uncontrollable.

Mr. Truman's trouble is that neither he nor his chief Cabinet officers, who conduct U.S. foreign relations are devoting enough of their time, their energy, or their minds to the great issues.

They are all very busy men. But they are too busy to think seriously and constructively about the great decisions on which hang the vital interests of their country and the fate of nations.

IF THIS SEEMS astonishing and unlikely, let some energetic reporter collate the facts on these two points: In the past 90 days, how many hours out of each day has the President devoted to little 15-minute interviews and conferences with a vast assortment of people? How often and for how long has he conferred with his Cabinet, how often and for how long have Messrs. Byrnes, Vinson, Patterson and Forrestal—the key men in foreign affairs—conferred with him collectively about U.S. relations with Russia, Britain, China, Germany, and Japan?

The daily diaries of the President and his four principal lieutenants would show objectively and conclusively—I have no doubt whatever—that each is caught in a daily routine of appointments, correspondence, telephone calls, which prevents any one of them from bringing an unhurried and fresh mind to bear upon the great questions.

THE PRESIDENT alone can cure this inner trouble of his administration: this failure to think out the great decisions because individually the top men fritter away their best energies, and collectively they do not really take counsel together at all.

The President can cure it but only by a drastic alteration of his own habits of work. The foreign relations of the government cannot be conducted by any President through spasmodic and hurried contact with his departmental chiefs separately and individually. The cure is obvious. It is to institute a regular daily meeting, lasting as long as may be necessary to finish its business, of the President and his four chief Cabinet officers concerned with foreign affairs, and to decide at that meeting, and no where else, all military, political, and economic questions of policy. That meeting should be held every morning until the present developing crisis has been mastered. It should have priority for the President, the Secretaries of State, Treasury, War, and Navy, over all other engagements. There is nothing that they have to do, no matter who telephones for an appointment, which compares in urgency and importance with their need to take their decisions together.

NOTHING LESS THAN this can begin to cure the trouble—no amount of separate conferences with this or that official, no amount of interdepartmental committees, or casual, spasmodic meetings of high officials. Nothing will do any real good except the habit of regular, prolonged daily meeting of these high officials collectively. But that will do good. They are able men; it would be hard to find available men who individually are more experienced or more qualified. But as the administration is now conducted, they are disorganized departmental heads and not statesmen, and their time and the President's time are measured by their responsibilities, being wasted.

This is the kind of remedy that President Truman, like most of his recent predecessors, will find reasons, sufficient unto himself, for avoiding. It is inconvenient to change a regular schedule and to reform a habit of work. But in the art of government no other remedy is known when a state is in danger except for its leaders to sit in council until they have dealt with the danger and the emergency is over.

Later at least, if the degeneration of U.S. affairs brings us to the crisis which is impending, Mr. Truman will wish he had adopted it sooner.

Boxing fans aren't like football fans. They wouldn't cheer wildly to see a heavy-weight beat up a courageous flyweight.

FILMS NEEDED

One of us in the men's ward at the Victoria Nursing Home, 63 Gorge Road, has a small 16mm. movie projector. Unfortunately, the supply of films is meagre; only three comics are available. If any citizen has any such sized films he no longer has use for, the same would be greatly appreciated here, and furnish a lot of after-supper enjoyment.

The loan of films would also be greatly appreciated, and the undersigned will see that they are carefully handled and taken care of.

We also have a Victrola, but unfortunately, vandals broke into the establishment and smashed every record in the machine.

JOHN McDERMOTT.

"BROTHERHOOD OF MAN"

In the Times of Nov. 19, the following news item appeared: "OTTAWA (CP)—Only an intense belief in the great principles of interdependence of nations, and the Brotherhood of Man will provide the motive power to the United Nations' Security Organization, Prime Minister Attlee told a joint meeting of the Senate and Commons this afternoon."

The belief leading to the expression "The Brotherhood of Man" is that of a philosopher, and we need a philosophy of life in the world today. A belief in the Brotherhood of Man is the fundamental tenet, the guiding principle of Theosophy—the ancient Wisdom Religion of the East: as old as the human mind.

It might not be remiss here to quote a prophecy made by Madame Blavatsky, about 1894, that is 20 years before World War One. It reads more or less like this: "A storm will burst and our boasted western civilization and enlightenment will sink in such a sea of horror that its parallel history has never yet recorded."

Why was this written? Because she saw that the intense materialism of the world, its intolerance of other nations, and greed, could only lead to war.

We can only hope that it was World Wars Nos. 1 and 2 that she saw as one—and the last; and that her penetrating vision did not include a third war as "the sea of horror, etc."

Here I would like to quote briefly the philosopher Paul Brunton: "Calamity creates Wisdom and forces people into the wiser path they ought to have traveled willingly. War strips them of their smug complacency."

There we have it. Great suffering seems to be needed to teach mankind a lesson—it is his own doing. Will the powerful forces of reaction and ignorance on this continent learn a lesson from the dreadful things that have happened in this war, in Europe and elsewhere, and agree with Mr. Attlee that the motive power to the United Nations' Security Organization is the interdependence of nations and the Brotherhood of Man? Or must they wait to be chastised by atomic bombs of their own invention? C. R. V. BAGSHAW, 1405 Fernwood Road.

'Blindcraft' Tag Tells Real Story

The Victoria Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind are sponsoring a sale of "Blindcraft" goods in Spencer's boy's department, Government Street, Nov. 28, 29 and 30. Miss Ruth Jones will be in charge, assisted by Miss Maria Jones.

There is a human interest story behind the "Blindcraft" tag that will be attached to each article offered for sale. The story of some individual who has faced the tragedy of blindness and has turned it into an asset instead of letting it be a liability; of fingers trained to a new role of acting as eyes for their owner and learning to thread a needle without the aid of sight. The story of hands which formerly laid down the knitting when the light grew dim now knitting briskly without the aid of light.

These tags mark the story of men and women who have learned new trades and handicrafts to suit muscular fingers and then after much practice making articles so neat they are ready for sale.

Among the many new features added this year are footstools, children's chairs, toys, coffee tables, work boxes and magazine racks. Gifts include: Suggestions for babies, for older children, for men and for women. Many articles will be on display in the window of the boys' department of David Spencer's Ltd., Government Street. Every article is made locally by sightless people in their own homes.

Canadian National Institute for the Blind in Victoria is a member agency of the Community Chest.

Paper Chase Planned

Miss Marcia Miller and Ronald Wakefield, members of the Victoria Riding Club, have arranged a paper chase for Saturday. Riders will meet at Willows Park stables at 2:15. Tea will be served in the clubhouse after the chase. The riding club has arranged a dance at the Yacht Club Dec. 13.

Lise Meitner Suggests Oath For Atomic Scientists

In a signed article in the December issue of a leading women's magazine, Lise Meitner, Austrian refugee physicist who pioneered in breaking down Uranium 235, urges all atomic physicists to accept the oath she keeps continually at heart, the oath put in words by the late President Roosevelt the night before he died: "If civilization is to survive we must live together and work together, in the same world at peace." Miss Meitner sets forth this oath with the "sincere hope that together we shall be able to build a peaceful shelter for human beings in which happiness for all is the ultimate goal."

BENEFICIAL UTILIZATION

Discussing the future of atomic power, the physicist believes that "within five to 10 years, we can expect success" in its beneficial utilization. Because of the difficulty of transforming the process which occurs in the atomic bomb as an explosion, into a steady flow of power, it will be some time, declares Miss Meitner, before atomic power plants can supply our homes with light or power, or be used for driving combustion engines in motorboats or automobiles. But, she says, "for the purpose of some heavy industries the application of atomic power will presumably prove possible" and "the strongly radioactive substances formed through the processes on which the production of atomic bombs is based offer possibilities for medical and biological use to a far greater extent than ever before."

Successful Tea Held

Proceeds of the tea and sale of work held in the school auditorium by St. John's ladies' guild, which amounted to $360, will be used for the parish hall building fund. The president, Mrs. H. W. B. Stavert, assisted by Mrs. George Biddle, honorary president, and Mrs. W. A. Patterson, first vice-president, welcomed the guests. Afternoon tea was served under the convenship of Mrs. J. Speed, assisted by members of the guild. There were stalls for fancy work, white elephant, home cooking and aprons.

$100 for Best Play

TORONTO (CP)—The Women's Canadian Club of Toronto announces award of a prize of $100 for the best play dealing with an event in Canadian history or some phase of Canadian life.

The annual contest is open to professional and non-professional writers throughout Canada. Closing date for the contest is Feb. 15, 1946.

Brentwood Bazaar

Rev. J. A. Partridge will open the annual bazaar to be held Saturday, at 3, in the Brentwood Bay Hall by Brentwood Women's Institute. Afternoon tea will be served and bridge will be played at 8. The annual 500 card party will be held Dec. 15.

Appoint Woman Designer

Distinction of being the only woman member of the town-planning commission of nine belongs to Miss Marjorie Hill, B.A., B.A.Sc., architectural designer. Miss Hill, who was elected to the commission for one year, graduated in architecture from the University of Toronto, and returned later for an extensive course in town planning. She resides at 29 Gorge Road West.

Plan I.O.D.E. Bridge Tea

Members of the committee for the bridge tea to be held Nov. 29 at 2:30 in the Nurses' Home at Royal Jubilee Hospital by Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter, I.O.D.E., met Thursday morning for coffee in Spencer's lounge to discuss plans. Seated, left to right: Mrs. F. E. Dowdall, convener; Mrs. P. E. Corby, Mrs. W. Ellis and Mrs. H. A. Stuart; standing: Mrs. Phillip Ellis and Mrs. L. A. Robins. Proceeds of the affair will aid in furnishing the sunroom in the new maternity wing.

Personal Notes

Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward will be among the guests at the dinner given by the executive of the Victoria Council for Canadian-Soviet Friendship in the Empress Hotel Monday in honor of the Soviet Ambassador to Canada, Gregor N. Zaroubin.

Other guests will be Hon. George S. Pearson, Mayor Percy George, Mr. Sandham Graves, Mr. H. F. Hodges and Miss Margaret Clay.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. B. Ker are at the Hotel Vancouver until leaving Sunday for Seattle.

Mrs. L. W. Herchmer will arrive in Victoria Saturday to be the guest of Mrs. R. W. Gibson, 1590 York Place. Mrs. Herchmer plans to reside in Victoria for the winter.

Mrs. R. C. Foster of Vancouver, is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Chatham, Gorge Road West, having come to attend the wedding of her sister, Miss Bunty Chatham, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. W. Jardine have returned to Victoria after spending the past two and a half years in eastern Canada. They are guests of Mrs. M. J. K. Snape, 417 Queen Anne Heights.

Mrs. C. H. McBratney and Mrs. Hugh MacDonald entertained at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. J. C. MacDonald, 2665 Topp Avenue, at a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Bunty Chatham, who will be married Saturday.

Maj. L. Bullock-Webster has returned to Victoria after broadcasting in Vancouver in the series "Theatre for Amateurs." He also arranged, with a group of teachers, for the holding of a Greater Vancouver School of Drama Festival next spring.

Mrs. M. Broadbridge, Mrs. J. Toome and Mrs. W. Pearson entertained at the home of the latter, St. Ann Street, with a miscellaneous shower to honor Miss Maybelle Carmichael and Miss Lorna James, brides-elect. The honored guests were each presented with a framed picture accompanied by a corsage bouquet of carnations. Those present were Mesdames W. P. Carmichael, H. Laker, E. Styan, E. Tucker, E. Sisson, V. Thomson, James V. Kercher and Misses Ivy Thatcher, Joyce Carson, Alice Duncan, Isabel Briers, V. Ovenden and Judy O'Brien.

On the occasion of her 11th birthday, Miss Sylvia Stone, McClure Street, held a costume party for her school friends. The supper table was centred with a three-tier birthday cake topped with 11 candles. Games and contests were enjoyed. Guests were: Lucy Parker, Christine Mathieson, Elenore Strath, Cynthia Ross, Jean Webster, Shirley Roberts, Laurel Young, Elizabeth Hillard, Doreen Luney, Ann Kipling, Cathie Gibson, Dorothy Rattledge, Heather Macdougall, Betty Ann McBean, Doreen Carey, Claire Stevenson, Bea Wastell and Sylvia Stone.

Miss Amy Putnam was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. C. Brown, 464 Grafton Street. Games were played during the evening, winners being the bride-elect who received her gifts concealed in a laundry tub, Mrs. E. Holt, Mrs. G. Putnam, Mrs. E. Reimer and Mrs. D. Brown. Refreshments were served and a pink and white bride's cake cut by the guest of honor. Other guests were: Mes-

Olive Fox Bride Of Air Force Man

A formal gown or white floral organza with floor-length-embroidered veil falling from a Mary Queen of Scots headdress, was chosen by Olive Emmeline, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fox, 2330 Lee Avenue, for her marriage Saturday evening in St. Mary's Anglican Church, Vancouver, to Cpl. Howard Edgar Magee, R.C.A.F., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Magee, Vancouver.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride carried a white prayer book with a small shower of gardenias and tiny white chrysanthemums. Rev. D. Kemp performed the ceremony and during the signing of the register, Miss Thelma Gaetz of Victoria, sang "Because."

The bride was attended by Miss Mabel Viggers of Victoria and Miss Cecelia Magee, wearing similar gowns of pink and yellow sheer, respectively. Their matching headresses were embroidered circular veils with flowers on tone. They carried bouquets of harmonizing chrysanthemums. Groomsman was CPO. George Bowes, R.C.N.V.R., and ushers were Leslie Magee and Peter Walker.

A reception was held at the Hotel Vancouver where the toast to the bride was proposed by H. Flavell. Later, the couple left for a honeymoon in Banff and Calgary, the bride wearing a mauve silk crepe frock, sable shade muskrat coat with matching suede accessories.

Cpl. and Mrs. Magee will reside in Edmonton for the present.

California Honeymoon Follows Wedding

Maj. H. T. R. Gregg of the Calgary Highlanders, recently returned from overseas, and his bride, the former Beverly Prescott, will make their home in Calgary, following a motoring honeymoon in California.

Rev. G. Biddle performed the marriage ceremony Thursday evening in St. John's Church for the only daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Prescott, 256 Superior Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Gregg, Calgary. Thomas Jenkins played the wedding music.

Escorted down the aisle by Douglas Tuck, the bride was given in marriage by her mother, and wore a street-length frock of pale grey crepe, featuring a heavily-sequined bodice and a tiny jacket. A black cloche with pink ostrich feathers and a bouquet of gardenias completed the bride's ensemble.

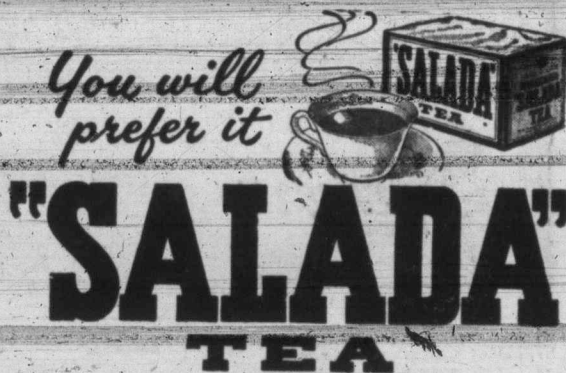

Mrs. Angus MacDonald was matron of honor, wearing a gown of olive green wool crepe with gold trim. Her hat was black, and she carried gardenias. Maj. E. T. Williams supported the groom, and ushers were: Surg-Lt. D. M. Whitley and Lt. Cmdr. A. J. MacDonald.

Mrs. Prescott was assisted in welcoming the wedding guests at a reception in the Empress Hotel, by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Gregg. Toast to the bride was proposed by M. V. Chesnut.

I.O.D.E. Tea

Members of Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., were hostesses at a silver tea held at the home of Miss G. Hill, Mrs. D. J. Muggford, regent, welcomed the guests, and Mrs. A. J. Cowan entertained with piano selections. Mrs. R. S. May presided at the tea table.

James R. Sykes, J. Lemieux, T. Simmonds, J. Cooper, F. Simmonds, P. Stuart, L. Simmonds, D. Simmonds, Misses M. Holt, N. Brown, E. Summers and P. McCoy.

Do you wake up Refreshed?

● Do you sleep soundly and wake up refreshed, clear eyed and buoyant, ready for the day's work? Or are your nights restless and disturbed, your mornings spoiled by fatigue and exhaustion? If you've been waking tired and listless, why not do as thousands today are doing—simply drink a cup of Ovaltine warm at bedtime. For Ovaltine does three things to bring vigorous morning freshness.

(1) Taken warm at bedtime, it relieves that feeling of nervous tension—and helps the body to relax for sleep without drugs. (2) Processed for easy digestion, it supplies light nourishment to prevent restless tossing and turning due to digestive unrest. (3) It supplies a variety and wealth of important food elements to rebuild body and nerve cells, replenish vitality to meet the morning.

Ovaltine furnishes not only essential vitamins, but also a combination of minerals, high-quality proteins and quick energy food elements which authorities agree are necessary for health and top vitality.

So if you sleep poorly—waken tired and listless—why not turn to Ovaltine as an aid to refreshing sleep and clear-eyed, radiant morning freshness. See if you don't begin to wake up each morning brighter, and more buoyant—ready to greet the day with a smile.

Red Shield Helps British War Brides

Preparing British war brides for their future Canadian life is an important part of the work of the Salvation Army in Britain, under the control of the Canadian Red Shield, Canadian Wives' Clubs have been formed in Brighton, Bournemouth, Glasgow, Leamington, Stratford-on-Avon, Lincoln and London.

A monthly letter is now being sent to those brides who have already reached Canada, and a secretary is being appointed for each Canadian province so that the new arrival may be kept in touch with the organization.

An unusual event at the Princess Alice Canadian Wives' Club in Brighton was a brideless shower which turned into one with a bride. The original plan was for each member, the wife of a Canadian serviceman, to bring a shower gift and take one home. Then someone saw in the paper, the story of a Hove girl who had married a Canadian, who, because of wounds, was in a body cast. He was taken to the church in an ambulance and carried on a stretcher to the altar, the wedding reception following in the hospital ward.

Knowing the bride would not be away on a honeymoon in these sad circumstances, the club invited her to a shower and so she became the beneficiary.

Y.P. Societies

First Meeting—St. Andrew's Presbyterian Y.P.S. held its first meeting of the season with the president, Miss Rae Scootney in the chair. Games were played under the direction of Miss Isabel Scott and a devotional period led by Margaret Stewart. Capt. Gordon Winter, ex-president of the society, recently returned from overseas, addressed members on "The Objects and Purposes of a Y.P.S." New members were welcomed by Rev. J. L. W. McLean and plans made for a Christmas meeting Dec. 17. Shirley Stevenson, Norma Williamson, Walter Ewing and Max Scrimgeour were appointed to convene arrangements. Next meeting will be held Monday in the church lecture room at 8.

C.C.C. Notes—The executive meeting of the Christ Church Cathedral A.Y.P.A. was held at the home of Miss J. Dixon, with the president, Margaret McCulloch, presiding. Group leaders and executive officers reported on programs. Possibility of badminton tournaments between Victoria and District A.Y.P.A.'s was discussed, also continuation of the fellowship hour after evensong on Sundays for members of the forces. Next executive meeting will be held Dec. 17 at R. Gibson's, 1260 Victoria Avenue.

St. John's A.Y.P.A.—Guests at the last business meeting included Al Page, John Hills, Colin Barker, Bob Hutchings, Charlie Potter, Leslie Mulligan, Fred Cassels, Arthur Humphrey and Bob DeGray-Birch. Norma Balfour gave the Scripture reading and prayers were led by Juanita Perkins. The president, Margery Symonds, conducted a "Know Your A.Y.P.A." quiz. Next week there will be an initiation service, with Margery Symonds, Anne Burr, Shirley Andrews, Norma Balfour and Cora Manton in charge.

Langford Club

H. W. McKenzie presided at the last meeting of the Langford Community Club when A. F. Bayles reported on progress of the building of the fire hall. J. E. Gooder was appointed a director. A fire committee including H. W. McKenzie, A. F. Bayles and J. E. Gooder, was appointed. H. W. Leggett will convene a committee for obtaining more Community Club members. Mrs. A. F. Bayles and J. E. Gooder will be responsible for the news bulletin. All returned servicemen in the district will be honored with a year's free membership in the club. Mrs. J. S. Robertson was presented with a first aid certificate by A. F. Bayles, civil defence officer. There will be no December meeting.

Rankin Runs Third In Cross Country

BERWICK, Pa. (AP)—Johnny Kelly, veteran little harrier from Acton, Mass., braved a strong head wind Thursday to win the Berwick cross-country run in the 36th renewal of the annual Thanksgiving Day event.

Kelly, scoring his fourth consecutive victory over the Briar Creek Hills, completed the rugged nine-mile-200-yard course in 49 minutes, 16 seconds. Forest Eflaw, Stillwater, Okla., took second place honors, finishing 46 seconds behind Kelly.

Robert (Scotty) Rankin, veteran, from Preston, Ont., five-time winner of the Berwick run and holder of the course record of 47:16.8, was third.

When She Wants a Hat She Draws It

Mme. Leguj Zamon-Pondal models a creation of her own. Hat is trimmed with fox paradis. She arrived in Ottawa with a number of chapeaux, all designed by herself.

OTTAWA (CP)—One of the most exotic newcomers to Ottawa's diplomatic row is blond, chic Mme. Martha Leguj Zamon-Pondal, wife of the Argentine ambassador to Canada.

A fashion enthusiast, she designs her own clothes, and her couture in Buenos Aires made up her wardrobe from her own sketches and suggestions. A glimpse at this wardrobe promises a dash of addition to the capital's first postwar social season.

Speaking in French—she is studying to perfect her English—she told in an interview of her pleasure, at coming to Canada, and her philosophy of dress-glamour.

For the interview slim, young Mme. Leguj Zamon-Pondal wore a black tailored suit trimmed with military braid, and a pure silk, hand-made yellow blouse.

"I just love hats," she declared, and after she had modelled 20 creations she had brought with her, she was anxious to know whether Ottawa would like them.

To say the least, Ottawa should sit up and take notice when the svelte Argentinian appears in a tall, white hat with five ostrich plumes sweeping down beneath her chin. She carries a large, white ostrich muff to match, and to complete the picture, wears a black satin two-piece dress with an interesting bustle effect.

FAVORS TALL HATS

The capital will see much of Mme. Leguj Zamon-Pondal's hats, for she likes nothing but a tall, exclusive model. She wears a large hat of green cock feathers as naturally and as unaffectedly as a schoolgirl wears a beret.

Clever craftsmanship went into the working of beads, sequins and pearls which decorate nearly all of her evening, and most of her afternoon clothes. Although most of her gowns are black, she uses color effectively. A vivid purple dress is one of her favorites. A feature of her wardrobe of particular interest to Canadians is her extensive collection of hand-made shoes. This made-to-order footwear costs as little as $12 in Argentina—here you would pay $30.

"Of Belgian and French descent, young Mme. Leguj Zamon-Pondal and her husband, Honorable, were married four years ago. Their pride and joy is a 2½-year old son, Honorable Jr.

Besides dress designing, the ambassador's wife's hobby is interior decorating, and the furnishings and decorations of her home in Buenos Aires were planned by her, down to the last ash tray.

Nutrition Committee—Mrs. E. S. Farr presided at a meeting of the Victoria Nutrition Committee held in the Y.W.C.A. Miss K. Love of the Department of the Board of Health, demonstrated food charts for the housewife. Dr. Richard Felton reminded the meeting of the lecture on pasteurization of milk to be given by Dr. Gordon Bates of the Health League of Canada in the Chamber of Commerce Nov. 30. Mrs. Farr welcomed Dr. Murray Anderson and Mrs. W. Graves to the meeting.

Christmas Plans—At a meeting of the Children's Ward Auxiliary in the nurses' home at the Jubilee Hospital plans were made to buy gifts and flowers and to decorate the ward for Christmas. Mrs. R. D. McCaw was in the chair and Miss Lena Mitchell thanked the auxiliary for blankets received for the ward. At the time of the meeting there were 28 patients. Motion pictures were presented by G. R. Lunney of the B.C. Travel Bureau, with the probationary class at the hospital as guests.

Elect Officers—The following officers were elected at a meeting of Britannia Lodge, No. 216, L.O.B.A.: Worthy Mistress, Mrs. R. Cooke; deputy mistress, Mrs. G. Walker; junior deputy, Mrs. G. Kelman; chaplain, Mrs. Sadler; secretary, Mrs. A. Fae; financial secretary, Mrs. F. Carlow; treasurer, Mrs. L. Cuthbert; guardian, Mrs. F. Cooke; director of ceremonies, Mrs. C. PHILANDERER PAYS, TOO

It is a generally accepted theory that in illicit love affairs the man goes free, while the woman has to pay and pay and pay. It is quite true that the woman does pay the heaviest score, for society shuts its door in her face, while it invites her partner in sin to dinner.

Probably all men-philanderers go on the comfortable belief that they can dance without having to pay the piper, but in this they are wrong. There comes a day when they have to settle with life for their fling, and they have to pay for the fun they have had with broken health and remorse and lovelessness and loneliness and the contempt of all who know them. And in all the world there is no more forlorn creature than the broken-down old roue.

MUST PAY PRICE

When we look at the philanderer we can but wonder if he never thinks of the big account he is running up against that day when every man must settle for the deeds done in the flesh. Perhaps he has been one of the handsome, gay-Lotharios who specialized in winning the hearts of young girls. They were at the love-time of life, as fresh and innocent and as easily plucked as a rose on a bush. They were powerless to resist his charm, his sophistication, his finished technique in wooing.

He played with them until he was tired of them and then he threw them aside as casually as he would a broken toy. And some of them went to the gutter, and all of them came to curse him because he had filled their hearts so full of love for him that there was never any room in it for any other man. Surely there is a special hell awaiting the man who plays with the hearts of young girls.

When a man is unfaithful to his wife, we pity her. But when we consider the price her poor, foolish, philandering husband is paying for his little affairs, we might better pity him. For he is throwing away the greatest treasure that a man can ever have—the faithful, true love of a wife who would stand by him, though all the balance of the world turned against him. He may think that she will love him in spite of the way he treats her, but that is a fool's dream. Her love turns to loathing.

The philanderer kills the respect of his children, and the man who never sees the pride of their children in his children's eyes has missed the finest thrill life has to give, and he never knows the joy of a peaceful and happy home where he can rest and gather up strength and courage to go on with the battle of life. The loss of the love of a wife, and of the honor of one's children and a happy home—what a price to pay for a few bought kisses and a sordid, amorous adventure!

The philanderer thinks that his under-the-rose love affairs have no effect upon his career, but they do. Many a talented and ambitious man's hopes end in a love nest. Many a man falls of winning the prize his heart is set on because of the scandals that blacken his name. It does no man any good at the bank to be known as a woman-chaser.

And so the philanderer pays and pays, even as the woman does for treading the primrose path.

WORLD DIPLOMACY OUTLINE

"United Nations' Primer," by Sigrid Arne (Oxford University Press).

HERE'S nothing surprising about the power that lay in those eight points," writes Sigrid Arne of the Atlantic Charter in her "United Nations' Primer."

Nations like human beings have a desire for only a few universal conditions of life. And the charter touched on the most important.

In this book Miss Arne goes on to explain how the agreements which resulted from the meetings of the Big Three carried out the points laid down by the Atlantic Charter. She also tells how the 15 conferences gradually built a foundation for a lasting peace.

In concise sentences and paragraphs the Associated Press writer sets down the meaning of meetings such as Tehran and Yalta, showing how they brought about an understanding between the world powers and how they fit into a plan built up over four years for a world at peace.

At the same time the author holds out no unbounded optimism as to the future of a lasting peace. In her record of each conference she tells the advantages and drawbacks to the results and the difficulties underlying the problems which Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin had to discuss.

Especially interesting at this time are her references to Russian policy in eastern Europe. Her explanation of the San Francisco conference gives a textbook outline to the most recent of the great meetings. Her comments on the personalities around whom the conference centred are

STORY FOR GIRLS

"The Mitchells," by Hilda Van Stockum (Macmillan).

THE MITCHELLS are a modern American family living in a large house in wartime Washington. Their activities ranging from a war work club to helping the refugee next door are written especially for girls. Writing about the United States for the first time the author had recorded all the fun and gaiety shown in her country books.

Book Notes

VIKING PORTABLE LIBRARY has issued a collection of verse entitled "The Triumph of Life," edited by Horace Gregory. Devotional poems, elegies, lyrics, odes and idylls are included in the book which contains 300 poems by 158 writers.

"Normandy and On..." a book of cartoons and sketches by Lieut. Les Callan, former Toronto Daily Star cartoonist, has just been published. The author was with the Vancouver Sun for nine years before going east. He went overseas a few months before the Normandy invasion and his cartoons were first published in the northwest European edition of The Maple Leaf.

WAR VETERANS' CORNER

HOUSING SOUGHT

A national campaign to find living quarters for discharged servicemen and their families is being conducted by the Department of Veterans' Affairs, which is urging owners and tenants of housing space to make all but their own minimum requirements available to veterans. The month-long appeal is based on statistics which show that nearly half the married soldiers facing discharge have no place to live. A survey in September showed that 42 per cent of married veterans and 23 per cent of single veterans awaiting discharge had no definite shelter arranged.

OFFICE SPACE NEEDED

Scarcity of office and shop space is hampering veterans in their efforts to get established in business, rehabilitation workers say. Doctors, lawyers and other professional men returning from the services, and veterans wishing to use their postwar benefits to get started in small businesses of their own, are finding the office and shop-space problem as pressing as the housing problem.

HELPING SCIENTISTS

Veterans with technical training who gave their scientific services to the armed forces during the war are now receiving assistance in re-entering civilian employment by the Wartime Bureau of Technical Personnel, set up under the Department of Labor. The bureau provides these veterans with an outline of the formalities of returning to civilian employment, information of a general nature about employment possibilities in various fields of science and engineering, and access if desired to a list of openings of particular interest to or specifically reserved for technical persons returning to civil life.

The DOCTOR Says:

VIRUS IS NOT FOR LAYMEN TO DIAGNOSE

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

There was a time when patients who made their own diagnosis believed they could tell when they had a strep infection.

They have given way to the fellows who believe it must be a virus infection. Patients who make their own diagnosis assume more knowledge than their physician, who must prove it is a strep or virus infection by finding the disease agent in the laboratory or by matching signs and symptoms with known cases.

Although many diseases are caused by a virus, each is due to its own virus, and that virus will not cause any other disease. The list of virus diseases in man includes: smallpox, yellow fever, measles, chickenpox, mumps, infantile paralysis, epidemic influenza, the common cold, warts, inflammation of the brain and parotitis.

BODY CELLS ENLARGE

Viruses burrow their way into the cells of the body in one type of infection and cause the cells to enlarge in size and increase in number. Warts are a good example. The virus enters the cells of the skin and a wart results. Warts are contagious because the wart is on the surface. Warts disappear when the resistance of the body is strong enough to destroy the virus causing them.

A virus also may enter a cell and injure it. This occurs in infantile paralysis, where the nerve cells of the spinal cord and the brain are affected. Patients with infantile paralysis are always worse right after the infection has occurred than they will be later. Some of the injured cells will recover. Other cells are permanently damaged and no recovery can occur. Viruses also may cause inflammation. The common cold, epidemic influenza, yellow fever and others are examples.

NO SPECIFIC TREATMENT

We do not possess many specific ways of treating virus infection. The sulfa drugs and penicillin as a rule are not of any value except possibly in the treatment of trachoma (granulated eyelids). Use of sulfa drugs may be of value for the secondary infections which accompany the common cold, but not for the virus infection. The body finally overcomes the virus in each disease when recovery occurs. Viruses will not grow outside of our bodies on anything except living tissue. This held up the investigation of these common causes of disease until ordinary fertilized hen's eggs were found suitable for experiment.

ROMAN WOMEN ENJOYED MANY RIGHTS OF FREEDOM

In modern times a great deal has been said and done about "rights for women." During the present century, women have won the right to vote in many countries. This was granted to French women, for the first time, in an election last month.

In ancient times Roman women came closer to having "equal rights" than any others. They seem to have cared little, if anything, about voting or holding public office, but they wanted greater freedom than was allowed in other countries.

In the homes of Greece, it was the custom for women to live in special rooms. Roman women, on the other hand, could move about the house as freely as modern women do. If they were slaves in the house, they were directed in their work by the wife of the owner.

Roman women were able to go to open-air theatres. They could attend fights in the arena, if they chose, but the best of them stayed away from such ugly affairs.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

At courts of law in Rome, women sometimes appeared as witnesses, and there were cases in which they acted as lawyers. One festival in Rome was known as the "Matronalia." This came on the first day of March, and it was a time when gifts were made to wives and mothers. The Matronalia has been described as the "Roman Mother's Day."

During the time when the Roman republic, white was the most common color of garments worn by the women. Later, in the days of the emperors, it became their custom to wear clothing of such colors as red, brown, black, grey, and yellow. Dark gray was the color of mourning.

A Roman woman usually had either two or three names. Besides her given name, she had the family name of her father and after her mother as well. When she was married, she sometimes, but not always, took the family name of her husband.

The given names of the women ended with "a," according to the old Roman custom. The common given names included Julia, Claudia, Lucia, Publia, Livia, Valeria, Tullia, Paula and Aurelia.

Among the women who became widely known in Rome were the two Faustinas. The younger of these was married to the emperor Marcus Aurelius.

is expected in Victoria next week to discuss future trade with Europe with Victoria and Vancouver Island manufacturers and exporters.

Appointments to meet Mr. Macdonald may be arranged through the B.C. Department of Trade and Industry. The department has not yet been advised of the day of Mr. Macdonald's arrival, but he arrived in Vancouver Wednesday and will probably stay there a few days before proceeding to Victoria.

Also expected here next week or the week afterwards is C. M. Croft, chief of the Canadian trade commission to Australia.

Cecil Solly Says:

'Beware of Inexperienced Gardeners'

WITH THE END of the war only a matter of weeks past, there is a new "garden crop" springing up, to make life even more confusing for many home gardeners. As a result of the closing down of war plants and industries, the peacetime gardeners and landscape men are returning to their former work.

Many of these men have been serving their country faithfully during the period of war emergency by working in the shipyards, plane factories, and other war industries, and now feel free to move back to their peacetime occupations, leaving the industrial labor market that much less crowded. This is very commendable, and your editor feels that a little pat on the back should be accorded them.

However, in this "garden crop" too, are weeds. These weeds may be men just as earnest and patriotic, but who have had little or no experience as gardeners-for-hire. Weeds are "plants growing in the wrong place" and so they are. Their will-to-work will undoubtedly be very good, but their knowledge of the job is most probably confined to a small amount of home gardening which they did before the war in eastern or southern states. This experienced service for this part of the country with its different soils and climate.

Both groups of "for-hire" gardeners, the experienced and the inexperienced, have been earning high wages during the last three to four years. Their opinion of their value by the hour or job may not be consistent with that of John Q. Public. Actually, before the war, the good gardeners' level of pay was very low.

Too low, comparatively speaking. But nowadays you can't go by the old slogan "you get what you pay for."

The story, thus far, is just used to bring to your notice first that there are two groups of gardeners now becoming available, and second, that the two groups, though both honest, are entirely apart in experience.

Of this new "garden crop" there are also the noxious weeds which are generally called "harmful." Just three days before this article was written, I received a call from a woman who nearly got "taken" for $700 for a job worth $200 at the most. This particular person's approach was made with such perfect salesmanship that it was worthy of a legitimate sale. He had impressive and imposing business cards and letterheads, the ability to talk well and persuasively, and was full of graciousness. He even took his wife to meet the woman who was to employ him.

When you hire a gardener, don't take it for granted that he has had the experience needed to do the work in your garden. Ask for references, or failing this, he can give you the phone numbers of people that you can call to confirm his work and ability.

SPECIAL BULLETIN ON DDT. Here are the latest reports from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's research administration on the use of DDT by civilians.

"DDT is highly toxic to fish and certain other cold-blooded animals, but is much less poisonous to warm-blooded animals. It is poisonous to warm-blooded animals when considerable amounts are eaten... but some less toxic than lead or fluorine. No effective method for removing DDT residues from plants or produce has been worked out.

In preliminary tests DDT in soil at the rate of 25 pounds per acre was found to retard the growth of bush beans, lima beans, soybeans, hollyhock, berry plants and rye, and greater quantities to retard the growth of certain other crops.

"Defoliating insects"—In limited applications, emulsions containing DDT may be used to protect shade trees and ornamentals against many defoliating insects, including the locust leaf miner, boxwood leaf miner, cankerworms, gypsy moths, sawflies, and others. For the tent caterpillar it is only necessary to apply the spray to the branches of wild cherry and other host trees a few days before the eggs hatch, or to spray the nests very lightly as they form. For cankerworms, where the female crawls up the tree for oviposition, and for the gypsy moth, where the young crawl up the trunk of the tree, good control can be obtained by merely spraying the stem of the tree for a few feet above the ground.

"This method of treatment may be useful when power equipment is not available to reach the tops of tall trees. DDT is not harmful to forest and shade trees, but many of the emulsifying agents burn the foliage, and care must be exercised. Against vegetable insects... tests conducted to date have shown that most of the common vegetable plants are not adversely affected by low strengths of DDT applied in dust or aerosol form. However, some injury to squash, pumpkins, melons and other cucurbits may be expected even when this material is applied at strengths and dosages that do not affect other types of vegetables. (These same vegetables are especially sensitive to the use of sulphur.) It appears probable that DDT in proper formulations will serve as an excellent remedy for several common potato pests, including the flea beetle, as well as the pea weevil.

"Since the effect of DDT on the health of man is classed with that of arsenicals and fluorine compounds, DDT should not be applied when the leaves of the plant which will be marketed or used as food are exposed to the application. In the case of cabbage which is to be marketed with a loose leaf or leaves around the head, no applications should be made after the head begins to form, or after the centre leaves of the cabbage plant cease to unfold and begin to cup inward. This stage of development takes place, in some varieties, at least 30 days before the cabbage is ready for market. Pyrethrum or rotenone dust-mixtures are recommended for the control of green cabbage caterpillars after the head begins to form."

VANCOUVER

Gateway to the Pacific

Through the Lion's Gate, into Burrard Inlet, sailed Captain Vancouver in 1772, to explore what is now Canada's greatest western port. Atop tall totem poles the mystic Thunderbird stared down upon a tiny Indian settlement. Today, against the mighty background of mountain and sea, the Thunderbird still stares, but now, upon a new and mighty metropolis—the city of Vancouver.

In war, Vancouver, gateway to the Pacific, is our western guardian, shipping point for the cargoes that spelled Japan's defeat. In peace to come, Vancouver's expanding industry, Vancouver's unfolding opportunity, bespeak our nation-wide determination to go "Forward with Canada!"

Motor License Jump Indicates Population Of B.C. Increasing

When the number of motor vehicles on B.C. roads is decreasing the number of British Columbians licensed to drive cars is increasing rapidly.

Now licensed to operate on B.C. highways are 97,854 passenger vehicles and 31,849 commercial vehicles, a total of 129,703 vehicles. Last year at this time plying B.C. streets and highways were 98,048 passenger vehicles and 32,169 commercial vehicles—a total of 130,217 automobiles.

So far this year the Motor Record Office of the Attorney-General's Department has issued 142,619 renewals of motor licenses and 11,113 new licenses for passenger-car drivers.

At this time last year the office had issued only 9,331 new licenses and 132,373 renewals.

The office's issue of chauffeur licenses totals 20,725 for this year. At this time last year the office had issued only 17,498 chauffeur licenses.

T. G. A. Hood, superintendent of the office, all this means that when new cars are available in

B.C. there will be a great number of persons ready to buy them, and that the population of the province is increasing.

Part of the increase he attributes to returning war veterans, the remainder to an influx of persons from other provinces.

The increase in the number of drivers' licenses issued also indicates that motor cars are being used more now than they were formerly.

The office has given almost 20 per cent more drivers' examinations this year than last. The office's records also show that 4,244 minors had been licensed to drive this year. Last year at this time only 3,807 minors held licenses.

MORE TRAILERS

Total trailers licensed to operate on B.C. highways now is 6,020. Last year at this time 5,346 trailers had been licensed.

With the withdrawal of army equipment the number of motor-cycles operating in the province has been reduced from 3,080 to 2,377 this year.

Last month the demand of truck drivers for licenses increased more than 100 per cent over the demand for October, 1944. Mr. Hood attributes this to the number of war veterans returning to the trucking business.

Many B.C. Veterans Without Limbs Drive

All a war veteran lacking a limb has to do to get a driver's license in British Columbia is to satisfy the Motor Record Office that he can drive a car safely. G. A. Hood, superintendent, said today, adding that his office had issued "quite a few" driver's licenses to veterans.

"If he gets a properly equipped vehicle, we'll give him a license," said Mr. Hood. "All he has to do is to prove to us that he can drive."

Mr. Hood said some of the veterans lacking limbs had equipped their cars with gadgets to make driving for them easier. He said these drivers had a good accident record.

Usually Mr. Hood's office restricts the limbless veteran to driving his own car, or one equipped with the necessary gadgets for him to operate it.

Mr. Hood said he had no record of the number of war veterans who had received drivers' licenses since the end of the war.

"WE NEED A PLACE TO LIVE!"

"WE are living in a tourist cabin. That was all right in the summer months but now, with the approach of winter, I cannot expect my wife and little girl to live there.

"Mr. Canadian home-owner—you cannot imagine what it is like to come home from overseas and not be able to find a place to live. All we need is enough space so that we can be together during the next few months, after five years apart. In the springtime, I am sure the situation will be improved and we can get a proper home of our own."

THIS APPEAL MUST BE ANSWERED

Men who fought for Canada are seeking accommodation from one end of the Dominion to the other. The housing situation is acute due to several reasons:

1. Thousands of boys who went to war as single men are returning to civilian life, having married in Canada or abroad. Many of them have tiny children.
2. Canada's wartime families at home have sought and secured more spacious living accommodation—a great strain on the present facilities.
3. Although thousands of homes have been built during the war, the restrictions on vital materials curbed the building necessary to meet the increasing demand. Government has placed housing on top priority lists, but it will take time to catch up with the demand.

This housing appeal for veterans is only a temporary expedient until Canada gets into high gear on housing. You are only asked to rent available space for a limited period until sufficient homes are ready for occupancy.

If you have space which you can make available, list it with the Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee, or the local branch of the Canadian Legion; advertise it in the newspapers or list it with a real estate agent.

Inquire at the nearest Rentals Office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board about five months or less rental agreements. These are exempt from normal Wartime Prices and Trade Board non-eviction regulations, and five months tenancy will help many veterans through the winter.

Maj. Bullock-Webster To Direct Festival

Delegates from 19 Victoria organizations met the representatives from the City Council, Chamber of Commerce and the Provincial Drama Association Wednesday night to make preliminary plans for the International Drama Festival which will be held in Victoria in August, 1946.

H. J. S. Reynolds outlined the general plan suggested. Alderman Worthington gave a cash prize of $25 for the best design for a souvenir program to be sent in by any student in the Greater Victoria schools. A large advisory committee was planned, with a number of sub-committees.

Maj. L. Bullock-Webster was elected executive director of the festival.

Y.M.C.A. Notes

Led by Peter Spence, boys' work secretary, a delegation of 16 H.Y. members of the local association traveled to Seattle yesterday to attend the Older Boys' Conference.

The local delegation will take an active part in the discussion topics on the three-day conference agenda as follows: "Minorities in the Northwest," "Should We Have Compulsory Military Training?" "International Cooperation and World Peace," "Boy and Girl Relationships."

The Y.M.C.A. lounge presented a busy scene Wednesday night when over 30 young men and women of Greater Victoria registered for the "Wednesday Night Club" program of educational, recreational and social activities from Nov. 21 to Dec. 19.

Delinquency, a much-discussed subject, was the topic Mrs. Mitchell spoke on at the "Film Forum," while Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, spoke of health conditions in the city to the "Vim-Vigor and Vitality" class. "Your camera and how to use it" was the subject of Maurice Pickering to the photography class.

Remainder of the evening was spent in playing badminton, swimming, and ping-pong, and an enjoyable dance in the lounge

Girl's Death Claimed Accident, Mother Tells of Boy's Devotion

"He is very devoted. He cared for me a lot. He did lots of little things for me," Mrs. Charlotte Kinney, mother of Charles Kinney, said of her son Thursday afternoon, at his trial on a charge of murdering Phyllis Stroud.

Dressed trimly in black, Mrs. Kinney entered the witness stand to testify of Charles' devotion to her after Defence Counsel W. H. Devey, K.C., had told the jury that the defence would be that the accused on the night of Aug. 15 had no intention of killing Phyllis Stroud.

"In 1941," he said, "this boy's father joined His Majesty's navy. His brother had previously gone to Nelson, and shortly after that joined His Majesty's forces."

Charles was left alone at home with his mother, Mr. Devey said, and before leaving, his father had told him, "You are now the man of the house, Charlie. Look after your mother." This request, he said, Charles had taken very seriously.

Mr. Devey said that on V-J Day, about 11:25 p.m., Phyllis Stroud had arrived home and had discussed with Charles the events of the day, and then they had started talking about Charles' mother and father.

TO STOP SCREAMS

He said evidence would show that Phyllis had called Mrs. Kinney "an old fool." Charles had struck her, she had started screaming, and Charles had put a pillow over her face, not with the idea of choking her, but because he had heard people in the street, and wanted to stop her screaming, because he was afraid the people would think he was attacking her sexually.

Mr. Devey said the evidence would indicate that Charles had taken the cushion from Phyllis' face and tried in vain to revive her.

Dr. G. A. Davidson, Vancouver specialist in nervous and mental diseases, testified that he thought it very unlikely in view of Kinney's physical condition and his strong attachment to his mother that the boy would have attempted to have a sexual relationship. He said Kinney's weight of approximately 250 pounds indicated an endocrine disturbance.

Mrs. Kinney, next witness on the stand, testified that she had looked on Phyllis and Doris Stroud as her own because they had no mother and she felt sorry for them.

"Lots of times," she said, "they would call me ma."

However, Mrs. Kinney said, Phyllis had disputed her right to boss her, especially after her 18th birthday.

"He never went out but he'd come back with something for me," Mrs. Kinney said of Charles. Tears came to the eyes of both the mother in the witness stand and the son in the prisoner's dock. "He took me out," she said, "and he asked me to go to shows and places with him."

Commissioned Engineer C. A. Kinney, the boy's father, wearing the service ribbons of both world wars on his navy uniform, testified that his son's attachment to Mrs. Kinney had been very strong. H. R. Dawe testified he had known the Kinneys for 11 years and that Charles had visited him often in his workshop, and talked man-to-man.

He said Charles was truthful, of clean moral character, honest and loyal, and that during his school days he had shown great regard for his mother.

to be on hand for Christmas with small shipments coming in weekly. There are grapes available now, but wholesalers do not know whether they will have any for Christmas. Danjou pears are all through but winter Nellis variety are now on the market. Pineapples from Cuba are expected shortly and there may be a further shipment for Christmas.

Locally-grown cauliflower, Brussels sprouts and tomatoes will be ready to surround the Christmas turkey and there will also be celery, spinach and lettuce. Among luxury vegetables which may be imported are green peas, Italian broccoli, rhubarb, green beans, artichokes and chicory.

SOCCER PRACTICE

Toppers soccer team will hold a workout at Athletic Park tonight at 7. All players are asked to attend.

Ivan Temple, secretary of the Victoria and District Basketball Association, announced last night that all season tickets must be returned not later than Dec. 5.

Yule Marketplace Gay, But Short On Cranberries, Apples

They are getting ready to hang out holly down Wholesale Row these days, as shipments of Christmas supplies are ordered and wholesalers promise a colorful marketplace, even if a short one, in some commodities.

A shipment of Cape Cod and Oregon cranberries will arrive the first week in December—but a shortage is forecast, with only about half the berries to fill the demand.

Walnuts from California and pecans from Georgia are expected early next week and there are already Spanish filberts and almonds on hand. The nut situation this year will be somewhat better than last, according to reports. "There will be plenty of tangerines, with some due in from Florida in about 10 days," one wholesaler said. "Oranges will be sold on a mark-up basis and on the first navels to arrive within the next week or 10 days, there will be a $1 to $3 increase per case wholesale."

"The Office of Price Administration in the United States removed the price ceiling control from citrus fruits and there will be a fluctuating market. Grapefruit and lemons will be on the same basis. First pink Texas grapefruit of the season arrived Thursday."

Apples, usually tops in Christmas demand will be short this year, since wholesalers are on a quota from the Okanagan. Two carloads of Rome Beauties, Delicious and miscellaneous will be received for the next two weeks and will not nearly meet the demand. Heavy crop failures in Ontario have resulted in the shipment of large quantities of B.C.'s crop to the east.

Rangers Come From Behind To Tie Hawks

Everybody admits Chicago Black Hawks have a sensational forward line in the Bentley brothers and Bill Mosienko, but it's beginning to look as if that's all they have got.

The dynamo line from western Canada created the spark for Chicago's early-season drive to National Hockey League leadership and it paid off again last night as Hawks, calling on their ace attackers for 100 per cent of their goal production, staggered to a 3 to 3 tie against New York Rangers.

A Thanksgiving holiday crowd of 13,893 in Chicago Stadium watched Alex Shibicky cash Bill Juzda's pass at 16:12 of the third period to achieve the deadlock. Earlier Chicago had taken a 3 to 2 lead with Doug Bentley sinking two goals and brother Max one.

Shibicky counted twice for Rangers in a game which saw rival goalies Mike Karakas and Sugar Jim Henry called on frequently as frail defences disintegrated in front of them. Ab DeMarco scored the other Ranger tally.

The Bentley-Mosienko trio accumulated five scoring points. Mosienko drawing assists on two of the goals sniped by his wingmen. The speedy forward unit has dominated Chicago point production in all games this season, just as it did in 1943 before war broke up the combination.

SUMMARY

First period—1, New York, DeMarco (Brown), 7:45; 2, Chicago, D. Bentley (Mariucci, Kaleta), 13:34. Penalties: Kuntz, Mosienko, Juzda.

Second period—3, New York, Shibicky (Laprade), 5:28. Penalties: Wares (2), Moe.

Third period—4, Chicago, M. Bentley (Mosienko), 11:46; 5, Chicago, D. Bentley (Mosienko), 14:08; 6, New York, Shibicky (Juzda), 16:12. Penalties: D. Bentley, Juzda (major), Mariucci (major), Watson (10-minute misconduct), Moe.

Mosienko Gains Tie For Second Place

Bill Mosienko picked up a pair of assists and linemate Max Bentley added a goal as the Chicago Black Hawks drew with New York Rangers last night to give the Chicago marksmen a total of 13 points apiece, one point behind Toe Blake, leader in the National Hockey League scoring averages.

Boston Bruins' playmaking centreman, Bill Cowley, was idle and slipped to fourth place with 12 points. Other leaders remained the same.

Intercity Basketball

Varsity Brings Stars

Boasting a star-studded line-up, Varsity Thunderbirds will be in town tomorrow to battle Dominions in an intercity basketball engagement at the High School gym, starting at 8:35. In the preliminary at 7:30, Hudson's Bay girls will tangle with the Eagletes.

Varsity, rated the number one club on the mainland this season, will strip a squad that averages six feet two inches in height, assuring them of their share of rebounds.

The squad contains the names of many players well known to Victoria hoop fans. These include Ritchie Nicol, a former Dominions Reg. Clarkson, a Victoria boy, who has starred on mainland basketball and gridiron clubs; Hank Henderson; Varsity star before the war, who spent four years in a German prison camp; Pat McGeer, Harry Kermodie, Gordie Sykes and Sandy Robertson, who played here last spring against Victoria Kins in the B.C. senior A final.

Other Varsity players will be Harry Franklin, Ron Webber and Ollie Bakken.

Last week-end Varsity engaged in a pair of tilts with the University of Oregon, and although beaten, put up a grand fight.

Dominions dropped a tough decision to Seattle Alpines last Saturday in their first stiff competition of the season. Tomorrow night the club will be bolstered by the return of Doug Feden.

GAMES TONIGHT

Tonight, at Brentwood, the first of a series of league games will be played. In the opener at 7:30, Eagles tangle with the K.V.'s in the intermediate B boys' division, followed at 8:30 by an intermediate A clash between Alcos and Victoria College. At 9:30 Brentwood Aces battle Chinese Students in the men's senior B division.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A record crowd, estimated by officials at 20,000, watched Valdina Lamar take command in the stretch Thursday to win the $2,000-added Thanksgiving handicap, 5½ furlong top event on Fair Grounds' eight-page opening-day card.

A total of $33,548 was bet on the 11-horse feature contest, a one-race record for the "poor man's" horse track. The previous high was $46,344. The day's total of $340,270 was $43,000 short of a record.

Lake Hill Improves Table Tennis Lead

With Doug Robinson and Keith Olsen showing the way with eight and seven wins apiece, respectively, Lake Hill Cantons improved their lead in the Victoria Table Tennis Association senior league, registering a 22 to 14 victory over Gonzales.

There is only one game left in the first half of the senior schedule.

Three other engagements during the evening saw identical scores of 19 to 17 registered. Robinson's Grocery beating MacDonald Electric, Painters beating Giants and Comets taking the Aces.

Robinson's Grocery team was led in the scoring by W. Robinson and B. McKay with six wins apiece. W. Browne-Cave topped MacDonald's with eight points.

W. Cotton was high for Painters with seven wins. Giants' S. Ngai with seven, Comets' R. Lowe with seven and Aces' C. Ngai with six were other high scorers.

McCool Returns

TORONTO (CP)—That off again, on-again Irishman Frank McCool came back to Toronto Thursday, ready to try to regain his netminding job with Toronto Maple Leafs.

"There's been too much publicity already," said McCool on arrival from his Calgary home. "I'm here to try to win my job back, and I know I've got to work. I'm sorry so much confusion came of my contract problems and I guess I'm largely to blame." Said Coach Hap-Day: "Frank will report for his first practice Friday. He's signed a contract for $4,500, the original figure agreed on last spring, and says he's well satisfied. So are we."

Baseball Name Contest Closes

Contest to select a name for Victoria's team in the Western International Professional Baseball League will close tomorrow. It was announced today by Laurel Hargreaves of the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Club. All entries postmarked Nov. 24 will be eligible for the competition.

In the near future winner of the competition will be announced. To date well over 1,000 entries have been received and officials of the ball club are well satisfied with the response.

Anyone wishing to still submit a name should send a letter to the sports editor of the Times not later than tomorrow night to qualify for the prize of two box seats for all home league games of the Victoria team.

New Westminster Defeats Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (CP)—New Westminster Royals tightened their hold on second place in the Coast Hockey League standings here last night when they outplayed Portland Eagles for a 6 to 2 victory.

A first-period major penalty to Red Carr proved costly for Eagles as New Westminster took advantage of the extra man and blasted in three goals in less than seven minutes.

The opening score came at the three-minute mark when Bob Snyder poked in a double pass from Fred Smitten and Will Cook. Dutch Evers netted the next two.

Carr was still in the penalty box when Phil Dalgleish took a pass from Eddie Shamlock from the corner and scored Portland's initial goal.

The second period was more evenly matched and Royals added the only point when Reg Bentley picked up a rebound from Evers' shot and banged it home.

New Westminster outscored Eagles 2 to 1 in the final session. Bob Koch sinking Smitten's pass in early play and Ollie Dorohoy connecting with a waist high shot from about 12 feet out unassisted. Portland managed to pick off another marker before the final whistle when Eddie Coleman dropped in a double pass from Carr and Shamlock.

They weren't cheered any by word from the Beach camp that all players are ready for action except backfielder Ernie Becker, who has a severe knee ailment. Copeland, who led all big four scorers in league play, may start Saturday but Argo club officials said the swift, swivel-hipped backfielder, if he plays at all,

Mustangs Play In Vancouver Saturday

Another local sports aggregation that will leave Victoria on the midnight boat tonight is Victoria Mustangs who are slated for a Canadian football match tomorrow afternoon in Vancouver against an all-star high school squad.

This will be Mustangs final battle of the season—a season that has seen the locals in action seven times. They have scored three wins to date.

Mustangs' showing is paving the way for the returns of senior brand Canadian football here next year and this will result in many of this season's players stepping up into the senior bracket.

Twenty-two players were named by coaches Bill Bishop and Jim Smith Thursday as the squad to make the trip.

Wally Smith, trainer, and Jerry Ready, team manager will also make the trip. Players are: Cole, O'Connell, Worsley and Kissing, ends; Brown Quest and Konkin, tackles; Clarkson, Turner, Lott and Barry, guards; Moonen and Slang, centres; Rynoski and Harper, quarterbacks; Joyce, Ross French and Mitchell, halves; Denon and Pegg, fullbacks; O'Brien, blocking back.

Argos May Lose Copeland in Final

TORONTO (CP)—An 11th-hour injury to flashy Royal Copeland of Toronto, Argonauts produced mild panic among the wagering fraternity today as Varsity Stadium officials forecast a possible record-breaking crowd for tomorrow's Grey Cup semifinal between Argos and Toronto Balmy Beach.

The Bay Street betting boys, after establishing the Big Four champions 8 to 5 and sometimes 2 to 1 favorites in the sudden-death meeting for the eastern Canada championships, backed down a bit when manager Earle Selkirk made known Copeland is suffering from a strained muscle following an Argos scrimmage.

They weren't cheered any by word from the Beach camp that all players are ready for action except backfielder Ernie Becker, who has a severe knee ailment. Copeland, who led all big four scorers in league play, may start Saturday but Argo club officials said the swift, swivel-hipped backfielder, if he plays at all, probably won't be 100 per cent effective.

News of Copeland's injury leaves coach Ted Morris with three halves on the limp. Fast back Andy Tommy and quarter Fred Doty, with knee and ankle miseries, are considered definitely out of the line-up.

West's Battle Navy

First and second-place clubs in the Victoria and District Football League will see action tomorrow. League-leading Victoria West will stack up against the Navy at Heywood Avenue, while the runner-up V.M.D. tangle with the last-place Canadian Legion at Athletic Park.

Sunday the Nanaimo eleven will make another visit to engage Toppers at the Athletic Park.

All matches will commence at 2:30.

Undeafened this season and holding a five-point margin at the head of the standings, West will have a strong eleven out to engage the Navy. Joe Travis will look after the goal-tending chores in the absence of Vince Clarkson, while Noel Morgan, Murray Speller and Gordie Cooper will be in the line-up.

Navy are reported to have lost the services of Smith, their high-scoring centre-forward and left winger Ware, but will still field a powerful squad. In their last appearance the sailors dropped a high-scoring game to the V.M.D.

The match between V.M.D. and Canadian Legion will find the former strong favorites to add two points in view of the Legion's five defeats in six starts.

Sunday's game between Nanaimo and Toppers should produce plenty of action. The up-island squad has been inactive for a couple of weeks, but will bring down a well-balanced eleven in an effort to notch their third win of the season. To date Nanaimo has won two and lost a like number.

Teams follow:
West—Travis, R. Bell, Cooper, M. Speller, C. Robbins, McMillan, E. Barnswell, Musgrave, G. Bell, Reside, Morgan, Hutchinson, Youson.

Canadian Legion—Evans, Smart, Wyatt, Watson, Treagalis, Costain, Duncan, Okell, Wright, Fogden, Felton.

Toppers—Muir, Rowe, Young, Druce, Webster, Creed, Donaghy, Shubrook, Jenkins, Sage, Stewart, R. Speller, Nicholas, Stone, Searle, Baldwin.

Nanaimo—Williams, Watson, Ferguson, Sinclair, English, Horne, Golobar, Easterbrook, Danton, Rice, Grey, Todd, Harris, Dick.

All-Star Swim Card Saturday At Crystal Garden

Washington Athletic Club coach, Ray Daughters, will have eleven of his smartest-swimming stars on hand tomorrow night to provide the opposition for Archie McKinnon's local Y.M.C.A. contingent in the 23-event big international gala at the Crystal Garden, starting at 7:30.

Jack Newton and Bob Miller will be representing the Seattlites in the men's freestyle, while opposition to Victoria male backstroke will be Terry Mullen and Bob Regan. W.A.C. will have Dick Newton and Regan in the breaststroke men's events. In the women events Lou Towers, Keith McAlpine, Carolyn Daughters, Marie Vennett, Lois Scott and Pat Klein will be on the Seattle side.

In addition to international events, there will be a four-star exhibition of diving by Al Patnik and eight events for local swimmers only.

The evening's spotlight will centre on the 300-yard junior men's medley relay event when Victoria's title-holding trio, Dick Bowden, Peter Salmon and Rod Nixon will attempt to shatter the Canadian record of 3:30.2. They are all tops in the junior class and the coach figures them capable of beating the present time.

LOCAL EVENT ENTRIES

Following are entries in the local events and young "Y" performers of both sexes are urged to look the list over and see if their names are included so that they will be on hand for the meet:

Boys (under 15th birthday) 50 yards freestyle—R. Clarke, Leroy Boarder, Iain Le Bus, K. W. Pater, R. Jubb, B. Caviness, R. Baird.

Nanaimo Clippers Register 8-0 Win

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Nanaimo's high-flying Clippers "virtually skated" New Westminster Cubs off their feet here last night when they returned to their earlier season form and walked off with an 8 to 0 victory.

Still burning from the shutout they absorbed at the hands of Vancouver White Spots in Vancouver the previous night, Clippers went on a scoring rampage and showered goalie Al Sato with an endless avalanche of rubber to register the second shutout of the league in as many nights.

The victory, which is Nanaimo's fifth in seven starts, gives them a six-point lead in league standings while White Spots and Cubs have a mutual hold on second spot.

President Outlines Place of Chamber in Canada's Future

Importance of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Canada's future and the part to be played by the men within its membership was outlined by E. O'Connor, president of the Canadian Junior Chamber at a dinner held in his honor by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce in Terry's private dining room Thursday evening.

C. J. Harrington, Victoria president, was chairman. Officials seated at the head table included Mr. O'Connor, A. Cater, national director for the B.C. region; Walter Miles, vice-president of the Victoria senior chamber, and Gordon Verley, vice-president of the junior chamber.

Mr. O'Connor foresaw rapid growth of the junior chamber by June of next year. A year ago, he said, membership in Canada was 8,000. It was now expected to reach 20,000 by June. There were 80 boards now, he said, and he hoped to see 150 by next year.

He dealt with the relationship between senior and junior chambers and said he believed the senior chambers realized if they were to retain their strong position in Canada, they had to have strong junior chambers.

YOUNG LEADERS

Canada had become a leading nation in the world, he continued, and Canada needed leaders, young men willing and prepared to accept responsibilities and make decisions. He believed the junior chamber fitted young men to fulfill these tasks.

There were three objects of the junior chamber, he said, which were to develop civic consciousness in the younger men; to encourage self-development, and to bring about fellowship.

The junior chamber faced the task of fostering national unity, which should begin within one's own group, he continued.

Another task was to educate youth to good citizenship, he said. "What we do today so far as youth is concerned will have a great bearing on what happens to you and me in the next 25 years."

In conclusion, he spoke of the debt owed to the servicemen who fought in the war and had come back and those who had not. "If we fail to raise an everlasting memorial to peace, then their sacrifice has been in vain, he concluded."

IN LEADING POSITION

Mr. Cater spoke of the position of the B.C. junior chambers as a

IAN M. GRANT

Ian M. Grant, son of Mrs. Lesley M. L. Grant, 543 Linden Avenue, and the late John Grant, is now back at the University of B.C., to complete his course in chemical engineering, after five years in the army, four of them spent overseas, where he won the Distinguished Service Order. He joined the D.C.O.R. here at the age of 20, going overseas with that unit. He saw service in Africa and Italy, where he won his D.S.O., and in western Europe, returning to Canada in July this year, with the rank of major, and as a volunteer for the Pacific theatre of war. He is Victoria born, and 25 years of age.

E. LINDENBACK

After 4½ years' service with the R.C.N.V.R., E. Lindenback has received his discharge, and is employed at Manning Lumber Mills Ltd. He worked as a grocery clerk before the war. Enlisting in 1941, he served in the Pacific aboard H.M.C.S. Prince Robert, and in the Atlantic in H.M.C.S. Farnia and H.M.C.S. Calgary.

leading one in Canada. He believed the chamber here attracted the type of young man who was interested in the future of Victoria.

"The Junior Chamber of Commerce movement all over B.C. and Canada, is on the march," he concluded. "Victoria has every right to be in the forefront of that march."

Mr. Miles assured the meeting the senior chamber would cooperate to the fullest extent with the junior chamber, which was one of the strongest organizations in Canada, he said.

He said he wanted to see the Victoria junior chamber gain a membership of 300, and urged it to get into its membership as many ex-servicemen as possible, as, he believed, they had the benefit of much travel and opportunity of studying the way of life in other countries.

He urged the junior chamber to take as one of its objectives the bringing about of a constructive program in Canada which would prevent emigration of young men to the U.S.

Among things he would like to see the Victoria junior chamber do, he said, was to put in a large stadium in Beacon Hill Park, to help the police in enforcement of traffic rules, and to continue its work with the motion picture forum.

Good Advice to Those WHO SUFFER WITH PILES

Maybe you are one who is troubled with sore, itching, painful piles, keeping you nervous and irritable, making you every bowel movement a dreaded, painful duty. If so you should not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic.

Used by a Professional Model

Rectal itching and soreness or painful bowel movements because of piles are Nature's warning to you and you should take notice now to relieve this condition. We make this generous offer directly to you. It gives you a chance to try a simple, home remedy WITHOUT COST. If it does not give you prompt and effective action in helping your pile troubles, go to any drug store to-day and get a box of Hem-Roid, an internal treatment which directs its medical action to correcting the cause of your piles. Piles are really caused by bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel. They are greatly aggravated by constipation and straining in the movements.

The Hem-Roid formula is made especially to help you. It acts in 4 ways. (1) It makes your bowel movements easier and less painful; (2) it relieves the terrible itching and burning; (3) it cures the painful soreness; (4) it aids in healing the sore, sensitive pile tumors. The action of Hem-Roid is quick and reliable. Within a few days you will see what Hem-Roid can do for you. It is easy and pleasant to use—gives amazingly quick and effective action. It seems the height of folly for you to continue to suffer the agonizing torment of piles when a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost. If you are not completely satisfied with what Hem-Roid does for you—if after using one package you are not greatly pleased—your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Move to Speed Payment of Back Pay for Hocking Family

Hopes that at least a portion of the back pay accruing to Ralph Hocking, repatriated civilian prisoner-of-war, who is now in the Royal Jubilee Hospital tuberculosis pavilion, will be forthcoming soon were held out today.

This would settle satisfactorily the difficulties of his wife and two small children, who found themselves in dire straits when the Colwood Red Cross centre was closed down, and they had no place to go but the immigration building.

It was pointed out today that once the status of the members of the family is determined, that is, whether they are to be regarded as Canadians or English, they will be able to obtain both a clothing allowance and an advance on the back pay that is coming. However, it is extremely doubtful if any bank would be willing to advance funds until it is known which government is prepared to supply the money.

Stringent efforts are now being made to have the immigration authorities speed their ruling on the case. While the family were still at Colwood authorities at the centre wrote both Ottawa and London to get clarification of their position, but to date have received no reply to these inquiries.

MORE OFFERS TO HELP

Offers to help the family until they can get themselves established and Mrs. Hocking can find the employment she is seeking are continuing to come in. The Prisoners-of-war Relatives' Association has offered to advance financial assistance, and a resident of Cobble Hill has sent in $10 to be given the family because she said, "I just can't help but feel but for the grace of God it might have been myself."

In the meantime Mrs. Hocking and the two children are comfortably established at 710 Fort Street where anonymous donors have paid two weeks' rent and provided sufficient funds for food. She expects to consider and sort out the many generous offers of help during this period and make more permanent plans for their future.

More Employees to Come Under Civil Service Act

The provincial government today approved an order-in-council extending to almost half the government's employees the right to come under the operation of the Civil Service Act, giving them pension and other benefits.

Acting Premier George S. Pearson, announcing the passing of the order, said it would bring in all sundry employees in the Public Works Department as classified by the commission, and those of the Public Utilities Commission, and King's printer's department.

Still not covered by the act are employees of the B.C. Police and the Liquor Control Board.

Boys' Work Hits 'All-Time Low' Minister Says

Boys' work across Canada reached an all-time low because of the lack of leaders and pre-occupation of almost everyone in the war effort, Rev. R. A. McLaren, United Church provincial secretary for Christian education, told a boys' leaders meeting in First United Church Thursday night.

He added, however, that the work was now on the upward road with servicemen taking on leadership and churchmen forming men's clubs to back up the program.

"Parents are beginning to see the lasting significance of a purpose in a boy's life and writers and thinkers across the land are seeing that if we leave the religious element out of a boy's program, it is an inadequate preparation for life."

CRUSADE FOR CHRIST

Mr. McLaren described boys' programs and outlined the work which is a part of the Crusade for Christ, now being conducted across the Dominion by the United Church of Canada. He spoke of the Trail Rangers' program for boys 12 to 14 years of age, the Tuxis program for those 15 to 18. He said they were fast-growing, four-fold programs that developed a boy socially, physically and intellectually.

"In addition, these programs give a boy a conception of his Maker and his relation to Him," Mr. McLaren said.

"There are hopeful signs on every hand. We are meeting with enthusiastic approval of parents. The boys' work department is setting out to establish youth rooms in every United Church in B.C., now that the first few to be established have proven so successful."

A boys' parliamentary convention to which all senior boys' groups whose members are over 15 years of age, are entitled to send a delegate, will be held in the city hall at Vancouver, Dec. 27 to 30 of this year. The boys' parliament is an interdenominational. Anyone wishing further information on it is asked to contact Clyde Woodard at 706 Craig flower Road, E 6918.

Navy Chiefs Flying Here To Meet Cruiser

Canada's largest warship, the cruiser Ontario, will be greeted by the Royal Canadian Navy's two top executives when she arrives at Esquimalt Tuesday from Hongkong and Pearl Harbor.

Naval officials announced Navy Minister Abbott and Vice-Admiral G. C. Jones, C.B.E., R.C.N., chief of the naval staff, will fly from Ottawa in time to meet the ship when she docks Tuesday.

The Ontario's commanding officer is Capt. H. T. W. Grant of Halifax.

The cruiser, commissioned in the fall of 1944 in Britain, took part in the final phases of the Japanese War.

Seven residents of Saanich each were fined $1 and $250 costs when they pleaded guilty to not having licenses for radio sets when they appeared in Municipal Police Court Thursday afternoon.

Picture of Wrecked H.M.C.S. Skeena Now Shown in Magazine

Thirty-four pages of pictures and stories of the activities of the Royal Canadian Navy are shown in the November edition of the Canadian Geographical Journal.

While all pictures are of great interest to Victoria residents, those outstanding are the scenes of the H.M.C.S. Skeena lying wrecked on the shores of Iceland; of the H.M.C.S. Prince Robert passing under Lions Gate Bridge at Vancouver. Also shown is an action shot of the H.M.C.S. Uganda. Many pictures of naval personnel, some of whom you may know, are featured. "The Saga of the Royal Canadian Navy" is an article every Victorian will enjoy reading. Get your copy today of the Canadian Geographical Journal before your magazine dealer's stock is sold out. Legion Asks Ottawa Action On Ex-Servicemen Out of Work Here

Support for the Canadian Legion request to federal authorities for immediate action in providing employment for returning servicemen was promised today by Mayor Percy George, on receipt of a copy of a telegram which has been sent by the Britannia Branch of the Legion to the federal government.

Mayor George is having a copy of the wire forwarded to R. W. Mayhew, M.P., with a request that he do all in his power to support the legion request.

However, Mayor George stated he doubted if any further action could be taken here to press the matter until the conclusion of the Dominion-Provincial conference, at which Premier John Hart has promised to bring up employment problems, particularly as they affect the B.C. coastal regions.

Increasing unemployment among ex-servicemen in Greater Victoria was viewed with much concern by the 1,600 members of the branch, the Telegram said, adding, the branch considered the situation a federal responsibility which called for immediate action in ensuring adequate opportunities of employment for ex-servicemen.

"The federal authorities are expected to give a practical lead," the telegram said.

Three-War Veteran Dies in Hospital

Flt. Sgt. Thomas Smith, 63, of 714 Newport, Victoria, veteran of three wars and 17 years' service with B.C. Police, died Thursday in Shaughnessy Military Hospital.

A native of Edinburgh, Scotland, he served in the Boer War, in the First Great War, as a regimental sergeant-major with both the B.C. Horse and Strathcona Horse, and in the Second Great War as a flight-sergeant with the R.C.A.F. service police. Coming to Canada in 1909, he joined the B.C. Police in 1910 and was first stationed at Spence's Bridge.

He was retired from the force four years ago, as a corporal. He was a life member of the Masonic Order which he joined in Scotland.

Flt. Sgt. Smith leaves his wife, one son, Constable Peter Smith, B.C. Police, North Vancouver; two daughters, Mrs. Nan Robinson and Mrs. John Lund, both of Victoria; three brothers, Peter, in Australia; James, Vancouver; and John, Courtenay; three sisters, Mrs. Thomas Archibald, Mrs. W. Porter and Mrs. Sidney Walters.

A military funeral will be conducted Saturday at Victoria from Curry's Funeral Parlor.

$750,000 Project For Mental Home

Tenders were called today by the B.C. government's works department for construction of a four-story, 172-bed addition to what is now called the veterans' building at the Provincial Mental Home, Escondale.

This addition, which will provide a total of 322 beds in the unit, will complete the admission unit, and is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $700,000.

Tenders will close at noon Dec. 19 at the Parliament Buildings here. The bids will be opened immediately.

The new buildings, which will be U-shaped, will house, along with the 172 beds, space for administration, office, laboratories and treatment wards.

$25, $20 Fines For Dangerous Driving

Two motorists were fined $25 and $20 by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in City Police Court today on charges of dangerous driving.

The $25 fine was imposed on Clifton A. Heglin who pleaded guilty to the charge which was laid after he had cut across the street at Blanshard and Humboldt Streets, passed a police car on the wrong side and stopped off the road on the wrong side.

George H. Williams was fined $20 after being found guilty of the charge which arose from a near accident on Wharf Street on Nov. 15.

Army Provost Corps members L.Cpl. Roy Koch, L.Cpl. Harry Hardy and Pte. William Buck testified the accused, turned across the street in the middle of the block cutting off Koch who was riding a motorcycle and was about to pass him. Koch had to swerve and in doing so nearly hit a parked car. The accused did not give a hand signal, they said.

Another motorist was fined $15 when he pleaded guilty to exceeding the 30-miles-an-hour speed limit on Quadra Street.

Invites Criticism

LONDON (CP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin today gave a comprehensive survey of foreign affairs to the House of Commons and invited any country suspicious of Great Britain to voice its suspicions for a frank answer.

Much of his 100-minute survey was devoted to Europe, where he said he "could not see a single frontier that is economically sound."

Dr. A. J. Garesche was recommended to Thursday of next week to obtain witnesses when he pleaded not guilty in Saanich Police Court Thursday to a charge of failing to return to the scene of an accident.

Town Topics

The Victoria Short Wave Club will hold a meeting at 8 tonight in the Y.W.C.A.

Metochin Farmers' Institute will meet Monday evening in Luxton Hall and will incorporate Radio Farm Forum into the program. Moving pictures on seed growing will be shown.

Slight damage was done by fire to the roof of a house at 541 David Street, shortly after 6 this morning. City firemen called to the scene, extinguished the blaze before it was out of control.

A car belonging to Mrs. H. J. Mellek, 720 Linden Avenue, stolen from Blanshard Street between 8 and 10:30 Thursday night, was recovered early this morning by Esquimalt police, parked behind a beer parlor in the municipality.

Quarterly meeting of the B.C. Council of the National Spiritual Association of Canada will be held in the Open Door Spiritualist Church, Saturday, Dr. James Horning and Mrs. Mary Anderson will address two mass meetings at the church Sunday morning and evening.

Citizens who wish to entertain five repatriates from the Orient who arrived here recently, too late for the entertainments provided for larger groups, have been asked to telephone Alderman W. H. Davies at his office, Empire 7441. The repatriates may leave Victoria on Sunday.

Three appeals were approved and one tabled at the Zoning Board of Appeal meeting Thursday. Those approved were for conversion of a single-family dwelling into a duplex; for relocation of a garage, and for alterations to a house. Application for a home industry was tabled.

Rev. F. A. Ramsey, a former curate at Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, who was recently discharged from the Canadian Chaplain Service after serving five years overseas, has been appointed rector of St. George's Church, Vancouver. Mr. Ramsey was at the cathedral for four years, leaving in 1931.

The provincial government today voted $12,000 to the Cancer Research Foundation of Vancouver to carry on its work. Acting Premier George S. Pearson announced this afternoon. At the last session of the B.C. Legislature, $25,000 was voted to purchase and equip an X-ray machine which was turned over to the foundation for operation.

Two gas station operators were remanded until Friday of next week when they appeared in City Police Court today on charges of failing to display in a conspicuous place at their garages, signs saying where and how a supply of gasoline could be obtained in an emergency during closed hours. A third operator pleaded not guilty to a similar charge and was remanded until the same day for hearing.

Mrs. Harold Jones, 527 Esquimalt Road, received severe cuts and bruises on her leg and ankle when she stepped on a water meter cover in the sidewalk on the north side of Fisgard Street, which collapsed, Thursday afternoon. She was taken home by city police, who said the accident occurred shortly after a Water Department employee had been inspecting the meter.

A $9,188 permit has been issued to the B.C. Electric Railway Co. to add a third story to its building at 1016 Langley Street. There will be eight rooms in the addition. Shawmigan Lumber Yards obtained a permit to build a lumber storage and display building at 2600 Government Street, value $1,400. Frank Vine was given permission to erect a five-room house at 490 Garbally Road, value $4,000.

An Indian boy and girl each were fined $10 or three days in jail when they pleaded guilty in City Police Court today to charges of being intoxicated in public places. The girl was arrested on Johnson Street and the boy on Fisgard Street. Both told

Crescent, Matano Open to Public
H.M.C.S. Crescent and Matane steamed up alongside the C.P.R. docks, Belleville Street, this morning preparatory to opening this afternoon, in conjunction with Navy Week, for the first in a three-day open house in which the public will inspect the warships.
The hours in which the vessels may be viewed by the public are from 1:30 to 4:30 each afternoon.
The Crescent, modern destroyer commissioned a short time ago in Great Britain, completed an 11,000-mile voyage when she reached her first Canadian port, Esquimalt, recently.
The destroyer is commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. C. P. Nixon, R.C.N., whose mother, Mrs. Boydell, lives on Wilkinson Road, is the son of the late Cmdr. A. E. Nixon, R.C.N., who was the first officer commanding the naval college established in Halifax in 1911.
The frigate Matane, commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. P. D. Taylor, R.C.N.V.R., Victoria, was attacked by a German flying bomb last year.
On Saturday and Sunday, the Canadian cruiser Uganda, commanded by Capt. E. R. Mainguy, O.B.E., R.C.N., Duncan, will be open to public inspection at H.M.C. Dockyard on Saturday and Sunday afternoons from 1:30 to 4:30.
The B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. has made arrangements to put on special buses leaving from Broad and Yates Street to go to the dockyard, and is also putting on extra cars on the Esquimalt line.
Magistrate Henry C. Hall that they had received the liquor which they had drunk from sailors. They did not know the sailors' names, they told the court.
A charge of dangerous driving against G. H. Dowling, Vancouver, was dismissed by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in Saanich Police Court Thursday. The charge arose from a collision between a light panel truck driven by Dowling and a C.N.R. locomotive at the Burnside Road crossing Oct. 30. Constable Jack Hamilton of the Saanich Police force said the crash resulted in about $150 damage to the locomotive and considerable damage to the right side of the truck.

Woman Attacked By 'Tall Thin Man'
Police are investigating reports that a Victoria woman was assaulted by "a tall, thin man with dark curly hair" on Belleville Street between Oswego and Menzies Streets shortly after 11 Thursday night.
The woman, who was married, was found in near hysterics by a taxi driver, who took her home. The assailant was reported to have said to the woman: "Come here," and then to have grabbed her. The woman grappled with him and he fled after tearing her coat.
He was reported to have been over six feet in height, thin, with dark, bushy hair, and wearing a tweed overcoat.
A repeat performance of "Robert Burns and His Loves" will be given tonight at 8 in the Chamber of Commerce under the auspices of the Burns Club. It takes the form of living pictures, which are ably described by Mrs. M. D. Christie, the director.

AS ANYONE COULD C. A happy man was Jerome Kern, as they sang his songs and the music turned to "The Silver Linings".
A gay little ditty, of feeling romance, always a little in front of the millions of houses, young things tried it in middle houses. Another score with treatment, Kern, was the bright and scintillating "Music in the Air". And
"Bells" was a song of romantic love, my favorite I think of Jerome Kern, who has been a world-wide winning one I'm sure to find "The Silver Linings".
Now the gift of melody we all can learn,
even if we go on as Jerome Kern.

The introductory shot of Warner Bros. "Pride of the Marines," the John Garfield starring film now at the Dominion Theatre, is that of the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia.

In the background the narrator explains that this is the story of a typical American boy and girl of the generation that became 21 on Dec. 7, 1941.

There are several passersby in the background of the shot, and there is one figure of a man looking reverently up at the big bell as it tolls.

But when the Warner company was back in Philadelphia on location during the picture's filming, Sgt. Al Schmid, the marine who was wounded at Guadalcanal and the man the script was written about, asked Director Delmar Daves if he couldn't be the figure in the background looking up at the bell—"just for luck."

ATLAS THEATRE

When Alexis Smith, currently co-starring with Humphrey Bogart and Sydney Greenstreet in Warner's "Conflict" at the Atlas, was sixteen, she appeared in a Los Angeles high school play. After the performance a Hollywood agent came backstage and told her she was a great "find."

He promised to take her around to the studios, but she never saw him again, and all these years the blow to her ego never healed despite her subsequent rise to stardom.

RIO THEATRE

Peggy Stewart, pretty young actress, who has the top feminine role in Republic's action picture, "Cheyenne Wildcat," starring Wild Bill Elliott, which is now at the Rio Theatre, has always been a little sorry that she didn't study medicine, as she had planned, when she was a youngster in Florida.

In those days she dreamed of becoming a famous surgeon, a dream she has never quite given up, in spite of a successful career as an actress.

CADET THEATRE

Frances Langford, a top favorite in radio, plays the leading feminine role in "Girl Rush," RKO Radio's thrilling western musical comedy, and sings three of the production's hit tunes. She is costarred with Wally Brown, Alan Carney and Vera Vague, and is now at the Cadet Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE

As his first acting for Warner's "Rhapsody in Blue," the story of George Gershwin, now at the Capitol Theatre, Oscar Levant had to applaud his own piano playing.

Seated in the balcony of a Warner Bros. setting representing New York's Aeolian Hall, Levant supposedly was listening to the first rendition of the

When the applause shots were filmed, director Irving Rapper was dissatisfied with Levant's enthusiasm.

"What's the matter?" he demanded. "Don't you like your own playing?"

YORK THEATRE Brian Donlevy, following his successes in such pictures as "Stand by for Action" and "Wake Island," plays the greatest role of his career in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "An American Romance," the new technicolor film currently at the York Theatre.

Opposite Donlevy, who portrays a Slovenian immigrant who rises in the United States to become an industrial genius, is the brilliant young newcomer, Ann Richards, who makes her feature film debut in this new King Vidor production.

The cast of "An American Romance" includes Walter Abel, as Donlevy's partner; John Qualen, as his cousin; and Horace McNally, as one of his sons.

The screen play is by Herbert Dalmas and William Ludwig, based upon a story by King Vidor.

Capt. J. D. S. Phillips, Well-Known Here, Dies in Australia

Capt. John Duthie Sydney Phillips, 80, former master of the old Canadian-Australasian liner Aorangi, died at Sydney, Australia, Oct. 28, according to word received here today.

Capt. Phillips, who made 125 round trips between Victoria and Sydney, requested that his ashes be scattered at Circular Quay, Sydney, at the former berth of the Aberdeen clipper John Duthie, his birthplace.

A familiar figure in Victoria for 23 years, Capt. Phillips joined the original Aorangi in 1897 and was her master from 1901 to 1910. He later commanded the Canadian-Australasian liners Maitai, Manuka, Zelandia and Makura.

Out of wartime research...

A New Motor Oil That Resists Oxidation

Like oxidized cloth—
Oxidized Oil is no good

You've seen the faded tatters worn by a scarecrow. Oxidation has had its destructive way with the cloth... making a drab "nothing" of colors that were once worn with pride. Oxidation has a destructive way with your motor oil, too... unless you've protected yourself by using new Golden Shell with oxidation inhibitor.

JUST IN TIME to serve the new cars of peacetime production, as well as those highway veterans which must survive a few more thousand miles, comes this good news: Wartime research has found a way to make motor oil resist oxidation.

Oxidation is the chemical change which destroys nearly everything under certain conditions of air, heat and moisture. It causes iron to rust, rubber to become brittle, butter to go rancid. In your motor oil it's the cause of sludge. And sludgy oil is no good. It's not only a poor lubricant, but it gums up vital engine parts so even good oil can't get in where it's needed. Your protection against the damaging effects of sludge is this new oxidation inhibitor developed by wartime research. Added during manufacture of Golden Shell motor oil, it keeps your lubricant free-flowing from one oil drain to the next. Ask for new Golden Shell now, wherever you see a Shell pump. Shell Oil Company of British Columbia, Limited.

ABOUT
JOHNS-MANVILLE

ANY TERMITES
IN YOUR HOME?

If you discovered termites eating your home, you'd get into action fast! But a leaking roof can be just as serious a source of trouble. You see, when rain seeps through a worn spot, it causes rotting boards to rot and decay. And roof leaks often mean damage to inside walls and ceilings.

The best way to prevent destructive leaks is to have your Johns-Manville dealer "trouble-check" your roof. He is an expert. And his trained eye won't miss the danger spots.

If you need a new roof you'll get years of service from Johns-Manville Asphal Shingles. They're colorful, attractive—designed to give maximum protection at low cost. For added protection ask for J-M Flexstone Asphal Shingles—they're made on a heavy felt base of fireproof asbestos. Free folders on request. DIAL 900

One Woman's Day

By KAYE ROGERS

FLAGS AND ANTHEMS

THE RECENT discussion in the House of Commons at Ottawa on the flag bill has once again brought to light the varying views held by Canadians on this subject. Designs have poured from all quarters into the office of the Secretary of State. And we are told, many of these feature the Union Jack, but most of them favor the maple leaf.

Some enthusiasts submitted several designs and suggestions for the new official flag which Canada is destined to have.

That is, if the decision of the judges—and I am glad I am not one—ever meets with general acceptance by the public.

NOT SEPARATIST

THIS DOMINION-WIDE controversy is but one of the symptoms of Canada's growing pains.

Happily, the time has gone when such a move would be regarded as a separatist tendency—except, of course, by the few extremists whom we have always with us.

Another manifestation of the same growing-up process is furnished by the bill defining Canadian citizenship which is also before the federal House.

At long last—we hope some solution will be reached of the old-debated question as to what constitutes Canadian citizenship.

And some clarification will be given to distinguish the people of this Dominion from other British subjects.

RETAIN BRITISH STATUS

FOR WHAT? Some people still don't seem to realize that every Canadian citizen, whether born or naturalized in this country, will still retain the status of a British subject.

The bill specifically states that—and the Secretary of State who introduced the bill made that point clear.

And I wholeheartedly agree with his contention that such a clarification of Canadian citizenship would induce a greater sense of national unity.

Together with a greater consciousness of common purpose and common interest as Canadians.

In other words, it will give a new pride and meaning to the simple statement: "I am a Canadian citizen."

NATIONAL SONG

WHILE THEY ARE on these matters, I do wish someone could do something about O Canada.

I mean something to standardize it—even if it is only regionally.

For instance, whenever I go over to Vancouver I find myself lustily singing the Weir version, while the rest of them just as lustily sing entirely different words.

They look at me as if I were singing a weird version, and generally make me feel the one classic example of "any man on top of step but my Jock."

I remember once going to a Portland women's convention with a group of fellow Canadians.

And when we were invited to sing, as a group, O Canada, the unintelligible result which startled our hearers wasn't only due to the fact that none of us were singers!

That time we gave them a pot-pourri of three different wordings.

A COMMON ANTHEM

AS DR. CHARLOTTE WHITTON points out in a recent Saturday Night article, only in God Save the King have we reached a completely common anthem.

"Between English and French versions there is no material difference, except a more passionate personal faith in the Crown in the latter," she says.

The only thing common about O Canada is its musical setting.

Not that I think, for a moment, that we should supersede God Save the King by O Canada, but I do think it would be nice to settle on one set of words for the latter.

And, having done that I would like to be, for once, at a gathering where Canadians really knew the words of O Canada, instead of just emitting mumbblings!

200 YEARS OLD

A PROPOS of God Save the King, few people know that it was born in a London theatre in September, 1745.

Just at the time when "Bonnie Prince Charlie" had invaded England and routed King George II's troops at Prestonpans.

According to a story in a recent New York Times magazine, the manager of the Drury Lane Theatre, stirred by the happenings, had volunteered to fight the invaders.

And the 200 men of his theatrical company volunteered with him—to a man.

So Manager Lacy, a patriot as well as a good showman, wanted the public to know about it.

ARNES ASSOCIATION

SO WHEN THE curtain fell, the whole company gathered on the stage and sang, for the first time, a rousing patriotic song, which started:

"God save great George our King,
Long live our noble King,
God save the King"

Thomas Arne, composer of "Rule Britannia," was the theatre's musical director and led the singing.

But he did not compose the new song; the actual author is not known. Arne merely took some fitting verses and set them to an old tune written in 1605 by John Bull—appropriate name!

God Save the King has changed but little since that time. And I think it will be a long time before any purely Canadian national anthem supersedes it—because of its historic and sentimental associations.

Fractional Losses
On Sluggish Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Troubles continued to assail the stock market today, although selling was relatively light and, here and there, favorites managed to contest the downward trend with modest advances.

The ticker tape loafed after a fairly active opening. Losses of fractions to more than two points predominated near the close.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:

30 industrials... 187.82, off 1.72
20 rails... 63.03, off 0.66
15 utilities... 37.92, off 0.21
65 stocks... 70.98, off 0.65

Total sales, 1,350,000.

London Market

LONDON (Reuters)—Advances among South African gold mines, especially West Witswatersrand, were featured in the stock market today. The mining shares met demand locally and from the Cape. Fresh hopes of higher prices for industrial diamonds buoyed diamond shares.

Business in other sections was quiet and some industrial volume was met by small and scattered orders. A few electrical equipment issues were offered.

Among British funds some medium dated issues were offered. German issues were in demand and Greek appeared staid.
